ASTEROID BENNU HAS BUILDING BLOCKS OF LIFE, SAY SCIENTISTS

Bennu's sample show presence of glycine, the simplest amino acid, and a crucial ingredient of proteins, according to a report in Live Science

WATER MINERALS FOUND IN THE SAMPLE

The sample also has other water-bearing minerals such as carbonates, sulphites, olivine and magnetite, leading to a tangible evidence that Bennu's parent body witnessed multiple water-related episodes before fragments coalesced into the asteroid, the report says. Scientists also found a reservoir of magnesium phosphate, a rare find in astromaterials

DID EARTH GET WATER FROM OUTER SPACE?

- Scientists have found abundant water-altered compounds called phyllosilicates, which may have been the cradles for organics, water that scientists suspect were delivered to Earth early in its history
- Sample of Bennu was brought by NASA's OSIRIS-REx mission in a protected capsule in 2023 and kept in Houston where study is on

SC gives govt 2 weeks to respond to petitions seeking stay on CAA rules

Directs the Centre to file its reply by April 2; matter to come up before court again on April 9

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday declined to stay the Citizenship (Amendment) Rules sought by a batch of petitioners, but directed the Centre to file its reply by April 2.

"We are not expressing any prima facie view. We have to hear the petitioners, we have to hear the other side," said the bench headed by Chief Justice D Y Chandrachud.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta initially sought four weeks time to reply and clarified that the law "does not take away citizenship of any person".

Senior advocate Kapil Sibal, appearing for the Indian Union Muslim League, questioned the urgency to notify the rules four years after CAA was passed.

The Act was passed in December 2021 but the rules giving effect to the law were notified only on March 11, 2024.

"We are not expressing any prima facie view in the matter," the bench said, while posted the matter to April 9.

During the hearing, the petitioners sought a stay on the grant of citizenship under CAA to persons belonging minority communities from Pakistan, Bangladesh, and Afghanistan, who came to India before December 31, 2014. The petitioners say CAA discriminates against Muslims and violates Article 14 of the Constitution.

Senior advocate Indira Jaising, also appearing for the petitioners, said the government should not grant any citizenship under the rules while the matter is pending before SC.

Sibal concurred, saying that under international law, "once citizenship is granted, you cannot take it back".

Advocate Nizam Pasha, appearing for AIMIM chief Asaduddin Owaisi, said Muslims left out of the National Register of Citizens (NRC) will be prejudiced.

Mehta strongly objected to this, saying: "An effort was made earlier outside this court to mislead people that they will be ousted. The NRC is not an issue before this court."

VOTING RIGHTS

When senior advocate Ranjit Kumar, appearing for a Hindu immigrant from Balochistan, wondered how will anyone be affected or anyone's rights be violated if his client is granted citizenship, senior advocate Indira Jaising said: "Because they will get the right to vote."

Ramdev in SC cross-hairs as bench orders his presence

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday directed Yoga guru Baba Ramdev and Patanjali Ayurved managing director Acharya Balkrishna to appear before it during the next hearing as the company failed to file its reply to an earlier notice on violating an undertaking on misleading advertisements and hauling it up for contempt of court.

Senior lawyer Mukul Rohatgi, appearing for Patanjali and Ramdev, strongly objected to the observations and remarks by the bench. "How does Ramdev come into the picture in the case," he asked. Rohatgi claimed that the violation of the law (by the contemnors) was not contempt of court and what was being relied on in open court has to be recorded in the order.

But the two-judge bench of Justice Hima Kohli and Justice Ahsanuddin Amanullah passed the order for personal appearance of Ramdev and Balkrishna in the next hearing.

'Hanuman Chalisa' row: BJP holds stir, 2 more arrested

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A day after a shopkeeper was beaten up by six persons for reportedly playing 'Hanuman Chalisa' during 'Azaan', several BJP leaders staged a protest at Siddanna Street in Nagarathpet, where the incident took place, on Tuesday.

Senior party leaders, including Union Minister Shobha Karandlaje, Bengaluru South MP Tejasvi Surya, Bengaluru Central MP PC Mohan, former minister and Rajajinagar MLA S Suresh Kumar and around 40 BJP workers, were detained and taken into preventive custody by the police.

As protests escalated with hundreds of BJP gathering on the narrows Siddanna Street, a heavy police deployment was made to prevent any untoward incident. Most shops and commercial establishments in the area were shut and there was a bandh-like situation in the locality. BJP workers raised 'Jai Shri Ram' slogans and chanted 'Hanuman Chalisa', demanding an impartial probe into the case.

A heated argument ensued between the police and the BJP workers when the police detained the leaders. Karandlaje slammed the Siddaramaiah-led Congress government in Karnataka, terming it 'anti-Hindu'. She said a youth is attacked for playing 'Hanuman Chalisa', pro-Pakistan slogans are raised in Vidhana Soudha and a miscreant splashes acid on minor girls. But in all these cases, no action has been taken, she said, adding that the law and order situation in the state has collapsed. At the same time, the Congress government is appeasing minorities, she alleged. She also demanded the resignation of Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara.

Tejasvi Surya said that over 5,000 people took part in the protest demanding action against those who assaulted the shopkeeper on Sunday. P4

Ballari officials seize chilli worth ₹15 lakh

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @ Ballari

WITH the model code of conduct for the Lok Sabha elections in place, Ballari and Vijayanagar district administration officials have seized chilli worth Rs 15 lakh in the last two days after farmers failed to produce e-way bills.

As per election rules, people transporting agriculture produce and other goods from one place to another have to produce proper documents.

Fearing such issues, deputy commissioners of Ballari and Vijayanagara last month held meetings with farmers, especially chilli growers, instructing them to carry e-Way bills while transporting their produce. Now that many checkposts have been set up ahead of the elections to curtail the movement of cash, liquor and other poll allurements to win over voters illegally, all vehicles are being checked thoroughly.

The district administration officials have again instructed farmers and merchants to carry all the documents to avoid trouble. P5

Paras exits NDA, but BJP draws Sita Soren, ex-US envoy Sandhu

RAMASHANKAR AND MUKESH RANJAN @ Patna/Jharkhand

A day after announcing its seat-sharing formula for Bihar, the NDA lost an ally though it had already accommodated the rival faction. There were rumblings within the JD(U) as well as its general secretary put in his papers.

Union minister Pashupati Kumar Paras on Tuesday resigned from the Union ministry as the rival LJP led by Chirag Paswan was given five seats in the NDA, including the prestigious Hajipur, for the upcoming Lok Sabha polls in Bihar. Paras accused the BJP of doing injustice to his LJP faction by excluding it from the seat-sharing deal.

Tej Pratap Yadav, elder son of RJD chief Lalu Prasad, offered to accommodate Paras in the opposition alliance. "We will be the first to welcome him (Paras)," he said. Paras though was cautious. "We will seek the opinion of party workers before taking the call on a new pre-poll alliance," he said. As for the JD(U), national general secretary Mohammad Ali Asaraf Fatmi resigned from all posts of the party. He is likely to join the RJD on Wednesday and could be fielded as candidate either from Madhabani or Darbhanga.

In Jharkhand, Shibu Soren's daughter-in-law Sita Soren resigned from the ruling Jharkhand Mukti Morcha and joined the BJP. Sita represents Jama in the state assembly. She alleged the at the JMM was isolating her and hatching a conspiracy against her family members. Sita is the widow of Durga Soren, the eldest son of Shibu Soren. The BJP's acquisitions continued with former Indian ambassador to the United States, Taranjit Singh Sandhu, joining the party amid buzz on fielding him in the Lok Sabha polls from Amritsar in Punjab.

Lalbagh finds it tough to water its 18K plants

MOHAMMED YACOOB @ Bengaluru

WITH summer peaking early and water sources yielding less water, the famed Lalbagh Botanical Garden in the city is facing difficulties maintaining 18,000 plants and trees of over 3,000 species spread across its massive 240-acre expanse.

Lalbagh authorities said the fluctuating power supply has impacted the operation of its 1.5 Million Litres per Day (MLD) sewage treatment plant (STP). Also, five borewells in the garden are giving less water.

Lalbagh Botanical Gardens Joint Director M Jagadeesha told The New Indian Express, "Normally, the summer months from March to April-end are considered critical for the horticulture department. Some plants and small trees require more water during this season.

Teachers await HC verdict, worry about extra duties

PURAN CHOUDHARY @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court division bench has reserved its order on the appeals filed by the state government against quashing of Board examinations for Classes 5, 8 and 9 by a single judge. Primary school teachers are anxious about what the next month entails for them.

Several teachers' associations in the state have raised questions against the government's arbitrary decision-making, leaving primary school teachers from aided, unaided government and private schools overburdened.

"Many parents and teachers have already booked their tickets for the vacations. If the exams for 5, 8 and 9 are scheduled in the coming days, it will be a big problem for the teachers. We already have invigilation for SSLC exams on a requirement basis, and then there would be compulsory poll duty training and elections. In between all of this, evaluation has to be done too," said Mahesh AR, state coordinator, Associated Management of Primary and Secondary Schools in Karnataka (KAMS).

He added that we cannot demand the private school teachers to delay, or cancel their vacations as they are not bound by government order. "If we push a little, they will directly hand in their resignation. What are we supposed to do in such a situation?" he asked. Many teachers also opt for jobs in private schools from other districts or states and visit their hometown during summer.

Another CBSE teacher opined that they are being overworked and underpaid. Despite several government orders, there is no minimum pay for private school teachers. "Apart from invigilation and evaluation, this year we also have election duty, but with very little appreciation or compensation. Nobody is thinking about teachers and their welfare," said Sreenidhi K, the general secretary, of the Karnataka State Primary School Teachers Association (KSPSTA).

"The government and court should think of the children and the impact on them. Their future is being played with," opined Chandrashekar Nugli, general secretary of the Karnataka State Primary School Teachers' Association which has over 1,86,000 teachers under its ambit.

AS WATER CRISIS RAGES, WELL-DIGGERS MOST SOUGHT AFTER

• They are in demand not only to dig wells, but also set up RWH units, recharge pits

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

WITH residents of the city trying everything—from digging borewells to water rationing— to tide over the present water crisis, traditional well-diggers are having a busy summer.

People have dumped the use of modern technology and shifted to traditional methods to find water and improve the groundwater table. Traditional well-diggers are in demand for not just digging wells and desilting them but even for setting up rainwater harvesting (RWH) units and recharge pits. So much so that a section of residents who are drilling borewells, including Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) engineers, are seeking the help of well-diggers to know the availability of water before sinking borewells.

"I started digging wells when I was 12. I would accompany my parents to the work site. There has never been a time when we failed to find water," says Shankar, a well-digger. Shankar says that they first check the type of soil and the presence of nearby water bodies before digging wells. "As we start digging, the soil's dampness and its temperature indicate to us how deep we have to go to find water. We tell people to pay us only when we show them actual water. We have never failed," he adds.

The demand for well-diggers has increased over the last two years. Three years ago, they were not in much demand, and there was a time when many even thought about changing their profession. "I used to go door-to-door, in and around Bengaluru, asking people if they wanted to dig a well, get it cleaned, or maintain it. Although maintenance should be done once a year, back then the monsoon was good and people had no water problems. But since last year, our old customers have started contacting us to carry out maintenance work," says another well-digger, Kumar.

Ramakrishna KR, another well-digger, says that for the last two years, he has received close to 500 orders to dig new wells, clean, and recharge them.

The demand has increased not just in the 110 villages added to Bengaluru city limits recently but also in core areas such as Chickpete, Sadashivanagar, Malleswaram, Domlur, Rajajinagar, and Ulsoor. "The depth of water depends on the soil condition, area, and concretisation. For example, if the area is rocky, then the depth to find water would be more… else water will be available within 30 feet," he adds.

The demand for well-diggers is not just from individual homes but also from apartment complexes, corporations, and panchayats to maintain parks and educational institutions. They have also dug wells in Cubbon Park and Lalbagh. Ramakrishna says that all wells are dug manually. The work is completed within 2–3 days, depending on the width and depth. "I learnt well-digging from my parents. My children are still studying. But if they are keen on taking up well-digging as a profession, I will surely teach them. During summers, there is a demand for digging fresh wells and taking up maintenance works, while in monsoon and winter, there is a need to recharge them," adds Ramakrishna.

Lakes being filled with treated water

BWSSB Chairman Ramprasath Manohar has directed officials to speed up the process of filling lakes with treated water. Manohar on Tuesday inspected Vrishabhavati Valley Waste Water Treatment Plant, Nayandahalli Lake and Kengeri STP. He also inspected the water treatment plant for Kengeri Lake. He said that the process of filling lakes with treated water has started, and 14 lakes are already being filled. Aim is to fill more lakes in the coming days, said Manohar.

Flats, hotels to fix tap aerators by March-end

With growing concern over water supply in the city, BWSSB has directed apartments, industries and luxury hotels to fix aerators in taps to avoid water wastage. BWSSB Chairman gave directions after a meeting with the Plumbers' Association. He said, "A large amount of water is wasted from faucets that don't have aerators. About 60-85% of water can be saved by installing aerators." The chairman set a deadline of March 31 to install tap aerators for hotels, industries, apartment complexes and restaurants.

Yediyur shows the way with 2,781 rainwater pits

AKNISREE KARTHIK @ Bengaluru

WHILE public and private borewells in Bengaluru have dried up, Yediyur ward in Bengaluru South has become a topic of discussion for its several water conservation measures that have helped raise the water table.

While the groundwater table in areas like Jayanagar 3rd Block and Basavanagudi is around 300 feet, people are able to get groundwater within 100 feet in areas like Upparahalli, and Sakkamma Garden. The average groundwater table in Yediyur ward is at around 213 feet.

"Yediyur ward comprises 18 areas and 197 roads. Every time a drain is desilted or reconstructed, at every 30 feet, a minimum of a 400-litre rainwater harvesting pit is set up. In parks, 4,000-12,000 litre capacity pits are made for every 100 sqft. In total, there are 2,781 rainwater pits in Yediyur which help catch 8.68 lakh litres of water during the monsoon," said NR Ramesh, former ruling party leader of BBMP, and former BJP president, Bengaluru South. Ramesh added that rainwater harvesting did not stop with just recharging pits. It extended to deadend roads, where instead of concrete or tar that don't allow seepage of rainwater, paver blocks are used to lay the road.

"We have used paver blocks to lay five roads which are over 100 metres in length, and can bear a load of 200 tonnes. The paver blocks help rainwater percolate, and there is no rainwater runoff. The water table can be improved by over 40ft during a single monsoon," explained Ramesh.

"All rainwater flows down the drain from where it joins stormwater drains, and leaves the city. If the Yediyur model is emulated across the city, it will help recharge groundwater. This needs political will and proper planning," he said.

Managing with treated water from STP: official

"WITH the failure of the monsoon last year and groundwater yield low, taking care of plants and trees at Lalbagh has become challenging," Jagadeesha added.

Also, frequent power cuts have impacted the functioning of the effluent treatment plant which treats 15 lakh litres of sewage every day. "Since the yield in borewells inside Lalbagh has come down drastically, the staffers are finding it difficult to water plants and trees in the entire 240 acres of park premises. We are, however, managing with treated water from the STP," he added.

A staffer said that small tanks in the garden are filled with treated water and tractors ferry water from one end to the other to water the plants when borewell yield is low on a particular day. "We also use long pipes to water plants," said a senior staffer. The staffers ensure that the birdbaths are filled with water to help birds, small animals and insects quench their thirst.

Gold worth nearly ₹1 crore seized at KIA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Air Intelligence Unit of Bengaluru Airport Customs on Monday seized over 1.5kg of gold worth nearly Rs 1 crore from four flyers, including a woman. All the passengers were Indians who arrived at Kempegowda International Airport from the Gulf countries and Malaysia, said Customs officials.

The modus operandi in these incidents are similar -- concealment of gold inside clothes.

The incident that set off alarm bells is that of a 30-year-old from Bengaluru, who sells IT and hardware equipment. "He arrived from Kuala Lumpur by Air Asia flight (AK-053) around 11pm. He had concealed gold weighing 197.43 gm in the form of a crude gold kada and O-link chain, which have a total market value of Rs 12,55,655," said an official. Bringing crude gold in any form inside the country is banned.

In another incident, a female passenger arriving from Kuwait on Air Arabia flight (J9-431) was caught smuggling in crude gold cut chains, bangles and pendants weighing a total of 196.73gm, concealed inside her clothes. It is valued at Rs 12,51,203.

Two other passengers arriving from Medina and Bahrain were caught attempting to smuggle foreign origin crude gold in the form of chains and small gold bars. "A total of 1.167kg gold worth Rs 74,64,986 was seized from both," said an official release. "The passenger from Medina arrived by two Air Arabia flights -- from Medina to Sharjah (G9-176) and from Sharjah to Bengaluru (G9-496). The passenger from Bahrain arrived by Gulf Air (GF-282)," an official said.

HC stays circular banning 23 ferocious dogs

Effect of Union govt order is pan-India, but stay is confined to Karnataka

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday stayed the circular dated March 12, 2024, issued by the Ministry of Fisheries, Animal Husbandry and Dairying, Government of India, banning 23 breeds of dogs, identifying them as ferocious and dangerous to human life. The circular, while banning the rearing of these dog breeds, also directed those who have these dogs as pets, to sterilize them to stop any further breeding. The effect of the circular is pan-India, but the stay is confined to Karnataka.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the interim order staying the circular, after hearing a petition filed by Bengaluru residents King Solomon David and Maradona Jones, and issued notice to the Ministry of Fisheries, Animal Husbandry and Dairying, chief secretary of Karnataka, and Kennel Club of India.

The circular was issued after an expert committee, with members from various stakeholder organisations and experts, identified the breeds as ferocious and dangerous to humans. The effect of the circular is pan-India and has a devastating effect on the dog breeds.

During the hearing, Deputy Solicitor General of India (DSGI) submitted that an impugned circular was issued on the strength of the order passed by the Delhi High Court in a public interest litigation. The court has permitted representation of the petitioner and will take a decision after consulting all stakeholders, within three months.

The counsel for the petitioners countered that the Kennel Club of India, which has chapters all over the country, was not heard by the Delhi HC. To identify a particular breed of dog as ferocious and dangerous to human life, would require profound expertise to identify whether the breeds are appropriately trained or not. Several breeds are identical to those found in India, which are not part of the circular. The court directed the DSGI to produce the documents that went into the decision of the circular by April 5.

Breeds included in the circular

Pitbull Terrier, Tosa Inu, American Staffordshire Terrier, Fila Brasileiro, Dogo Argentino, American Bulldog, Boerboel, Kangal, Central Asian Shepherd Dog, South Russian Shepherd Dog, Tornjak, Sarplaninac, Japanese Tosa, Akita, Mastiffs, Rottweiler, Terriers, Rhodesian Ridgeback, Wolf Dogs, Canario, Akbash Dog, Moscow Guard Dog, Cane Corso, and every dog of the type commonly known as Bandog.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

IN a joint operation with the Madhya Pradesh police, the Kodigehalli police arrested three persons who were allegedly involved in the futile robbery bid at Laxmi Banker and Jewellery shop in Devinagar last Thursday, in which the miscreants had opened fire injuring two persons. One more accused, who was arrested by the police, was also found to have sustained bullet injuries and was hospitalised by the police, but he succumbed to injuries.

The police identified the accused as Khana Sharma (23), Pradeep Sharma (37) and Ashu Sharma (27). Suraj (30) is the accused who succumbed to bullet injury, while another accused, Vikas Pandit, is absconding. Most of the accused have cases against them, Khana Sharma has 12 cases against him in Morena police station in Madhya Pradesh.

On Thursday, four persons entered Laxmi Banker and Jewellery shop and tried to rob gold and silver articles. As the workers resisted, they opened fire, injuring Hapuram (38), the shop owner, and his nephew Ananda Ram (25) before fleeing the scene.

"During the investigation, a fingerprint found at the scene of crime gave clues about the accused. Miscreants were found to be from the Morena district in Gwalior. Special teams were formed and with the help of local police, we nabbed the four accused at the Gwalior railway station. Among the four, Suraj had sustained a bullet injury in the neck in the melee at the jewellery shop but had not been treated. He was admitted to a hospital in Gwalior, but he died," the police said.

The investigation revealed that the accused had stolen a motorcycle in HSR Layout a day before the robbery bid, while they stole another vehicle two hours before the incident from Vidyaranyapura. Four pistols, 12 bullets and two mobile phones were seized from the accused, the police added.

Sources said the party's 16 candidates are: Chandrappa (Chitradurga), Mrinal Hebbalkar (Belagavi), Priyanka Jarkiholi (Chikkodi), Samyukta Patil (Bagalkot), Vinod Asuti (Hubballi-Dharwad), Prabha Mallikarjun (Davanagere), Rajashekhar Itnal (Koppal), Radhakrishna Doddamani (Kalaburagi), Sagar Khandre (Bidar) or Rajashekhar Patil, Padmaraj (Dakshina Kannada), Jayaprakash Hegde (Udupi), Soumya Reddy (Bengaluru South), Mansur Ali Khan (Bengaluru Central), Prof Rajiv Gowda (Bengaluru North), Lakshman (Mysuru), Kumar Nayak (Raichur), and Dr Anjali Nimbalkar (Uttara Kannada).

The list is not official and the party will announce the names on Wednesday.

The marathon meeting of CEC, which was attended by several top leaders, including Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, finalised the 16 candidates.

The names for eight constituencies were announced earlier. The candidates for Ballari, Chamarajanagar, Chikkaballapur and Kolar will be announced on Wednesday, the sources said.

If these names are final, then many of them hail from political families, including Jarkiholis of Gokak, Hebbalkar from Belagavi, Mallikarjun Kharge from Kalaburagi, Shivanand Patil from Vijayapura, Ramalinga Reddy from Bengaluru, Shamanur Shivashankarappa of Davangere and Eshwar Khandre from Kalaburagi.

Ramalinga: Dr Manjunath no match for DK Suresh

KGF: THE All India Congress Committee will announce its list of candidates for the Lok Sabha polls on Wednesday and a meeting in this regard was held on Tuesday, said Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy. After participating in the annual Brahmothsava at Sree Prasanna Lakshmi Venkatramana Swamy Temple on Tuesday, the senior leader attacked the Opposition BJP, saying the saffron party is now like a fish out of water as it is out of power in the state. On noted cardiologist Dr CN Manjunath contesting from Bengaluru Rural constituency, Reddy said, "He is a good man, a good doctor, but he will lose to DK Suresh as the latter has done many good works for the constituency." On PM Narendra Modi's jibe that there is a "chief Minister, shadow CM and super CM" in the Congress, he wondered why the BJP was breaking its head over this. "Let the PM and Home Minister Amit Shah campaign in Karnataka, the Congress will a majority of the constituencies," he said. — V Velayudham

Jibe match: 'Strong' CM versus 'weak' PM

Bengaluru: Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Tuesday hit out at Prime Minister Narendra Modi for stating that there are 'super CMs' and 'shadow CMs' in Karnataka. "We have no super CMs, no shadow CMs. There is only one CM, that is a strong CM. I am not a weak PM like you," Siddaramaiah stated while responding to PM Modi's remarks during the BJP rally in Shivamogga on Monday. Siddaramaiah said though the PM's followers hail him as 'Vishwaguru', he is repeatedly showing himself as a "weak PM". Half a dozen BJP leaders in Karnataka have rebelled against the PM's leadership after they were denied tickets to contest the Lok Sabha polls, he said. Party leaders are fighting on the streets, throwing mud at each other, and haven't listened to the pleas of their party leaders, the CM said. ENS

SLUGFEST OVER CHALISA ROW

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE assault on a shopkeeper who was playing a devotional song at his shop in Bengaluru has taken a political turn ahead of the Lok Sabha polls. While BJP leaders accused the Congress of appeasement politics, the latter hit back at the saffron party for allegedly trying to create fear in society.

"How much appeasement is too much appeasement? The Congress government's appeasement policy has turned Karnataka into a safe haven for anti-national jihadi elements, with Hindus suffering as victims. Congress poses a constant threat to Hindus. They must not test our patience & tolerance," Union Minister Shobha Karandlaje stated. "Arrest us all..!! It's an open challenge. Under the Congress government in Karnataka, there's an unspoken fatwa against playing Hanuman Chalisa," she stated on 'X'.

BJP state president BY Vijayendra said there is no fear of law. The shopkeeper, who has been assaulted, should be provided immediate protection, and necessary security arrangements must be made to conduct business without fear.

"Why incidents related to anti-Hindu and anti-India are occurring during the Congress regime only?" asked Union Minister for Parliamentary Affairs, Coal and Mines Pralhad Joshi.

Health Minister and senior Congress leader Dinesh Gundu Rao said the BJP is trying to use the incident for their political gain as the victim has not mentioned Hanuman Chalisa in his complaint. Action should be taken against those who created trouble at the shop, but they should not unnecessarily politicise the issue. It is not good for society to create fear and portray the incident as Hindu versus Muslim, he said.

Stalin condemns Shobha's statement

Bengaluru: Tamil Nadu Chief Minister MK Stalin on Tuesday condemned the statement of Union Minister of State for Agriculture Shobha Karandlaje that bombers are getting trained in Tamil Nadu. Urging the Election Commission of India to take note of her hate speech, he said action should be taken against her immediately. Karandlaje, taking part in a protest rally against the assault on a shopkeeper for playing devotional songs here on Tuesday, alleged that bombers are getting trained in Tamil Nadu and placing explosives in Karnataka. Terming her statement reckless, he said, "One must either be an NIA official or closely linked to The Rameshwaram Cafe blast to make such claims. Clearly, she lacks the authority for such assertions." Tamilians and Kannadigas alike will reject this divisive rhetoric of BJP, he added. He sought legal action against Shobha for threatening peace, harmony and national unity. "From the Prime Minister to the cadre on the ground, everyone in BJP should stop engaging in this dirty divisive politics at once," he said.

TEJASVI Surya alleged that due to pressure from the state government, the police delayed registering the case. The protest was called off after the police assured them that all the accused in the assault case will be arrested.

Bengaluru Police Commissioner B Dayananda said efforts are on to arrest one more person involved in the case. "The incident was over playing devotional songs," he added. He denied that police action was delayed. Soon after the incident, jurisdictional DCP visited the spot and the accused were arrested swiftly, he added.

BSY rushes to Delhi to douse fire on various fronts

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

IN the backdrop of several BJP leaders like KS Eshwarappa and DV Sadananda Gowda openly expressing their dissatisfaction in public and friction with alliance partner JDS, former CM and BJP Central Election Committee (CEC) member BS Yediyurappa rushed to New Delhi on Tuesday to deliberate with the top leadership.

Yediyurappa will also attend a CEC meeting on Wednesday and likely finalise the candidates for the remaining eight Lok Sabha constituencies in the state. Party sources clarified that Yediyurappa's visit to the national capital was decided after Prime Minister Narendra Modi's rally in Shivamogga on Monday.

The BJP is facing "rebel trouble" in Yediyurappa's home district Shivamogga after former DCM Eshwarappa made it clear that he will contest from there as an independent after his son KE Kantesh was denied ticket to contest from Haveri. Soon after this, former CM Sadananda Gowda, who also failed to get a ticket, said he is keeping his options open.

To top it all, leaders of BJP's alliance partner JDS openly expressed their displeasure over delay in seat allocation and claimed that they were not taken into confidence for the BJP's list.

The party is also facing a push-back from some leaders against the candidature of former CM Jagadish Shettar, who is keen to contest from Belagavi Lok Sabha constituency. In Chikkaballapur, the party is facing issues with finalising the candidate.

Meanwhile, Mandya MP Sumalatha is camping in New Delhi, seeking a BJP ticket from the constituency.

Before leaving for Delhi, Yediyurappa discussed these issues with senior BJP leader Govind Karjol, BJP state president BY Vijayendra and others. "Yediyurappa will explain the ongoing issues in Karnataka to central leaders and based on their instruction, the leaders here are expected to take steps," said a source.

Goods transporters should carry proper legal documents

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE office of the Chief Electoral Officer, Karnataka, on Tuesday said all those transporting goods should carry proper legal documents as the model code of conduct for the Lok Sabha is in place.

An official said the GSTIN bill and details are a must. The set of legal documents should include from where the items have been purchased, where they are being taken and the purpose.

"For any commercial usage, an e-way bill is a must. It is an electronic bill which is issued by the commercial tax department. For agricultural produce, no e-way bill is required, but other legal documents certifying the financial transaction details should be listed," the official said and added that in case the items are for a shop or factory, then the details of the dealer, the manufacturer, the quality, vehicle details and GST bills are required.

"There is nothing like election security check. The staffers who are on election duty are checking documents which every truck and transporter should carry always when ferrying goods and other items. Any lorry or goods vehicle without permit and proper documents will be booked. This is the law which is to be followed always," the official said.

In case of transportation of sand, stones, tiles and other construction materials, a royalty certificate from the mines and geology department detailing the IL number is a must. It should also include the quantum of items, to and fro travel time along with location details, another senior official said.

Siddu, DKS not on same page over ticket to DVS

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

WHILE political corridors are filled with murmurs of 'miffed' sitting BJP MP and former chief minister DV Sadananda Gowda contesting the Lok Sabha elections on a Congress ticket, CM Siddaramaiah and his deputy DK Shivakumar have different views on this idea.

While the CM is reportedly against fielding Gowda on a Congress ticket, Shivakumar is said to have approached an 'upset' Gowda and offered him a party ticket to contest from Mysuru-Kodagu constituency.

Gowda announced his retirement from electoral politics last November. He, however, expressed his desire to contest the Lok Sabha polls from his constituency of Bengaluru North, saying there was pressure from his supporters. However, the BJP top brass fielded sitting Udupi-Chikkamgaluru MP Shoba Karandlaje from Bengaluru North. Gowda on Monday too, said that he has kept his options open.

Shivakumar said it was common in politics for politicians to jump to a different party if their party denied them the ticket.

Meanwhile, there is also opposition from several Congress leaders, including CM Siddaramaiah, to fielding Gowda from the party. Siddaramaiah fears a recurrence of the former CM Jagadish Shettar episode.

Shettar, who had quit BJP ahead of the 2023 Assembly elections after he was denied a ticket, later joined Congress and contested the polls unsuccessfully. Shettar, however, recently returned to BJP causing much embarrassment to Congress.

Gowda cancelled his press conference on Tuesday and said he would address the media on Wednesday. BJP sources said that the senior Vokkaliga leader was approached by both Congress and BJP leaders. On Tuesday, Gowda met the office-bearers of Vokkaliga Sangha. Sangha members too expressed their displeasure with BJP for sidelining Vokkaligas.

On Tuesday, BJP leaders from Delhi contacted Gowda and tried to pacify him. They reportedly told him that the party would field him from Chikkaballapura, which is now represented by Bacchegowda, another Vokkaliga leader. Even state BJP president BY Vijayendra spoke to Gowda.

When contacted, Gowda continued to remain silent and said, "I will not speak now."

BJP leaders oppose Gowda pick Prajwal

BR UDAYA KUMAR @Hassan

WRINKLES are showing in the BJP-JDS alliance. In JDS stronghold Hassan, party leaders are upset after BJP leaders declared their opposition to Prajwal Revanna as the alliance candidate, and said they would support any other candidate. JDS leaders also also disturbed by the often contradictory statements of BJP leaders over the candidature of Prajwal, grandson of JDS supremo HD Deve Gowda, from Hassan.

Senior BJP leaders, including former MLA and state general secretary Preetam J Gowda, Sakleshpur MLA Cement Manju, former MLA AT Ramaswamy, district BJP president Siddesh Nagendra, former BJP district president Yogaramesh and senior BJP leaders from various taluks recently met in a private hotel where they strongly opposed Gowda's alleged unilateral decision on the alliance candidate. However, JDS leaders are in a dilemma following humiliating statements by BJP leaders. Sources said that Union Minister Amit Shah has reportedly asked HD Kumaraswamy to change the candidate for Hassan, as intelligence reports are going against Prajwal.

It may be recalled that Gowda had declared Prajwal as the alliance candidate, without taking BJP leaders into confidence. BJP workers are upset with Gowda for breaching ethics, when both parties had decided to file a common candidate.

A section of BJP leaders is saying it will not support Prajwal as the JDS has started its poll campaign with a picture of PM Narendra Modi and Deve Gowda on their vehicles, without consulting BJP leaders. They said JDS leaders and Prajwal had not met any BJP leaders, except Belur MLA HK Suresh, seeking their support. One BJP leader, on condition of anonymity, said no JDS leader was ready to take BJP leaders into confidence, though the parties had decided to fight the election unitedly.

PMK SIGNS PACT WITH BJP FOR 10 LS SEATS

Highest number of seats regional party ever got since 1996; Constituencies to be announced later

T MURUGANANDHAM @Chennai

A DAY after the PMK announced its decision to go with the BJP-led NDA for the upcoming Lok Sabha election, PMK founder S Ramadoss and BJP State president K Annamalai on Tuesday signed the seat-sharing agreement at the former's Thailapuram residence.The PMK has been allotted 10 seats. This will be the highest number of seats the party will be contesting in a Lok Sabha election since 1996. The constituencies to be contested by the PMK will be announced later. When asked whether the PMK will be given a Rajya Sabha seat as well, Annamalai and PMK president Anbumani Ramadoss evaded the question. Soon after signing the agreement, Anbumani attacked both Dravidian majors, without naming them. He said, "There is a resentment prevailing among the people of Tamil Nadu against the parties which ruled the state for the past 60 years. The people are eagerly awaiting a change. To fulfil the wishes of the people, the PMK has taken this decision to align with the NDA."However, it is to be noted that the PMK has been in alliance with both the Dravidian parties many times in the past. Recently, the PMK was in alliance with the AIADMK in the 2021 Assembly elections. Anbumani also said, "For the past 10 years, the PMK has been a partner of the NDA. The PMK will contest the LS Polls in alliance with the NDA. The PMK took this decision to ensure the continuation of the government led by Narendra Modi, his tenure as PM once again and to thereby bring changes in Tamil Nadu. The NDA will have a big victory not only in Tamil Nadu but also at the national level."Annamalai, who addressed the reporters, said, "It is a strong alliance. The political scenario has changed since Monday, after the decision was taken by the PMK to align with the BJP-led NDA."

Nothing political in BJD-BJP talks: Pandian

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bhubaneswar

IN the clearest indication yet that the alliance between BJD and BJP in Odisha is very much on track, Chief Minister Naveen Patnaik's trusted lieutenant and the second in command in the regional party VK Pandian on Tuesday stated the possibility of coming together goes beyond politics and is a mark of statesmanship of two great leaders. Speaking at a media conclave in New Delhi, Pandian asserted the alliance talks between the two parties is not because of the political consideration of boosting numbers or making an impact on the electoral map.

"CM Naveen Patnaik does not need an alliance to come back to power for the sixth term. Similarly, Prime Minister Narendra Modi does not need an alliance to become the PM of the country for the third time. BJD does not need BJP to come to power in Odisha and the BJP may not need BJD to form government at the Centre," he said. "There is nothing political in the alliance talks. The two great leaders who share a great friendship want to come together for a greater cause. They see something beyond politics which is a rare mark of statesmanship," the bureaucrat-turned-politician said. However, on the present status of the talks between the parties, Pandian said if anything happens everybody will come to know about it. Referring to the undiminished popularity of the chief minister, Pandian said the people of Odisha have great faith in him. "They see him as a person who wants to change and transform Odisha. The CM has brought transformation in public institutions like schools and hospitals as 70 percent of people depend of these," Pandian said.

The chairman of 5T initiatives in Odisha, who is in full charge of the BJD organisation, also addressed the issue saying he had succeeded in imbibing the principles to the people from the CM.

IISc develops colourful films for human use

ENS @ Bengaluru

RESEARCHERS at the Indian Institute of Science (IISc) developed flexible films that reveal bright colours without any use of pigments–like mollusc shells and peacock feathers that possess inherently vibrant colours. When stretched, the film can change colours as a response to mechanical deformation. These films can be used for various applications.

To design these films, scientists devised a novel, cost-effective, scalable single-step technique involving evaporating gallium metal (liquid) to form nano-sized particles on a flexible substrate, which has not been experimented with before given its high surface tension barrier. The method allows the simultaneous production of multiple structural colours responsive to mechanical stimuli.

The tension barrier that restricts the formation of gallium nanoparticles is overcome by using the properties of a substrate called polydimethylsiloxane (PDMS)--a biocompatible polymer.

PDMS is made by mixing two liquid-like components – an oligomer and a cross-linker – which react with each other to form a solid polymer. The scientists found that the unreacted portion of the oligomer, which is still in a liquid state, played a crucial role in stabilising the formation of gallium nanoparticles on the substrate. "When this substrate is then stretched, the liquid-like oligomers seep into the gaps between the nanoparticles, changing the gap size and their interaction with light, resulting in the observed change in colouration," the release said.

Cong urges EC to change Friday poll in Kerala

T'Puram: Echoing the sentiments of prominent Muslim organisations, the state Congress has urged the Election Commission (EC) to reschedule the Lok Sabha election date in Kerala as it falls on a Friday. In a joint letter to the Chief Election Commissioner of India, Congress state acting president M M Hassan and Leader of Opposition V D Satheesan have requested a change in the polling date, from the scheduled April 26. The Congress' move came close on the heels of 19 prominent Muslim organisations demanding a change in the polling date citing inconvenience to believers. This is seen as a deft move from the part of the Congress leadership as they do not want to take any chance when facing the crucial election. Also, they did not want to be left behind when the IUML leadership has already approached the EC in this regard.

HDK seeks paramilitary forces for B'luru Rural seat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

STATE JDS president and former chief minister HD Kumaraswamy has urged the Election Commission of India (ECI) to immediately deploy Paramilitary troops in Bengaluru Rural Lok Sabha constituency to ensure free and fair elections. The constituency will go to polls on April 26. He alleged irregularities were committed by the Congress candidate in the constituency and urged the ECI to take cognisance of it.

Kumaraswamy urged ECI to immediately transfer the Ramanagara deputy commissioner, superintendent of police, and zilla panchayat CEO who he alleged were not taking action and claimed were cooperating with the alleged irregularities committed by Congress candidate DK Suresh, brother of DyCM DK Shivakumar. "Is there an Election Commission in Karnataka? What is the Central Commission doing? Doesn't the Commission know what is happening in Bengaluru Rural constituency after the announcement of elections?" he charged. Electoral malpractices in Bengaluru Rural are rampant, he said. "Cookers and cash are being distributed. In Maralawadi, JDS workers stopped two lorries loaded with cookers kept allegedly by the Congress candidate for distribution to voters. The media has also reported it," Kumaraswamy added. "It is more than 48 hours since the irregularities were reported in the media. Why has no action been taken yet?" Kumaraswamy questioned.

He said Shivakumar was trying to lure JDS MLAs. "You're (DKS) are responsible for JDS alliance with BJP. When the JDS-Congress coalition government was formed, you had said that this government should last for five years," he said.

USE OF SATELLITE TECH TO WEED OUT PADDY BUYING FRAUD LAUDABLE

THE Odisha government's decision to remove a staggering 1.7 million plots from this year's kharif paddy procurement records is a laudable move. After receiving complaints about fabricated data of cultivable land being uploaded, the state food supplies and consumer welfare department went in for a satellite survey and found that at least 1.79 million plots had been faked. Bizarre as it may sound, plots bearing forest, water bodies, orchards and fallow tracts were registered as paddy-growing land.

Odisha follows a centralised process under which farmers can register areas under rice cultivation by uploading land and other details. Registered growers are then issued procurement passes, which can be presented at mandis during the purchase process. Much of this system was developed to weed out middlemen and fraud at district levels, so that farmers get their due. However, the detection of such a huge number of fake plots reveals the extent to which unscrupulous elements could go to punch holes in the procurement mechanism, which is an elaborate and tedious process.

Odisha's foodgrains productions stood at 141 lakh tonnes last year, of which rice was a major constituent. During the kharif season, paddy is grown over 36 lakh hectares. Against last season's paddy procurement target of 57 lakh tonnes, the government raised this year's target to 65 lakh tonnes, riding on the bumper production last season. This also makes it a lucrative business for unethical elements. Traders from neighbouring Chhattisgarh, West Bengal and Andhra Pradesh take advantage of the farmer's haste to dispose of their produce by nearly matching the minimum support price of ₹2,183 and collecting paddy from the doorstep. This year, the kharif procurement process started a little late, which also prompted farmers in the bordering districts to sell off their harvest to private traders. All this points to the fact that greedy players are always at play to make efforts to bleed the exchequer.

The government's paddy procurement bill runs into thousands of crores of rupees every year, which is why pilferage remains a constant threat. Despite efforts to cleanse the system, opposition parties have always flagged the issue of reinjection of old rice into a fresh procurement process. While Odisha has done well in weeding out fakery through the use of technology, it must continue efforts to plug the leaks that exist at the district level to make it foolproof.

BOXING NEEDS PUSH TO SECURE OLYMPIC BERTHS

BOXERS are known to get knocked down and then stagger up on their feet. Their indomitable spirit never lets them quit. Somehow, that spirit seems to be missing in Indian boxing, especially in the men's sport, at the moment. The contingent is back from one of their worst shows in recent times. If the sport was riding a wave thanks to the lofty heights scaled by Olympic and world championship medallists Vijender Singh and Mary Kom, it's almost at a nadir now. The men's team had a torrid time at the Olympic qualifiers in Italy, with most getting eliminated in the first round. Though some of the matches were close, it was not an excuse for failing to secure Olympic quotas; that too after so much support from all stakeholders—the Boxing Federation of India (BFI), Sports Authority of India (SAI) and several non-governmental agencies.

To put things in perspective, the erstwhile Indian Amateur Boxing Federation used to take overdrafts and loans to send boxers for international exposure trips and competitions. Though most of the expenses were reimbursed, the federations were not as healthy as they are now. After the romance of boxing was reignited thanks to the Dingko Singh and Gursharan Singh generation, Vijender, Mary and a bunch of others lifted it higher. Things have changed over the years. Schemes such as the Target Olympic Podium have started monetarily compensating boxers. Yet, the quality of men's boxing has not improved after the Tokyo Olympics. The Asian Games, too, was not as expected.

Irishman Bernard Dunne, the high-performance director, has been the first casualty. But it's not the ideal solution— BFI, which proposes the director's name, and SAI, which pays him, need to introspect. There is no bench strength, which in turn has affected the sparring. This is evident at the senior nationals. There is a gap between the best and the rest. Without competition, improvement is just not possible. Also the men's and women's camps have been merged at Patiala, which apparently has not gone down well with some boxers. With one more Olympic qualifier left, BFI and SAI must not make wholesale changes. Instead, they should find ways to help boxers perform. There is quality, but like diamonds, it needs to be polished. The boxers can still stagger to their feet for one last time to qualify. All they need is the final push.

QUICK TAKE

COUNTERING FAKE ENCOUNTERS

THE Bombay High Court set aside the acquittal of ex-cop and 'encounter specialist' Pradeep Sharma and sentenced him to life for gangster Lakhan Bhaiyya's murder in 2006. Sharma once boasted of having bumped off at least 112 criminals and served almost four years in jail before being acquitted in 2013. It is a rare conviction of a policeman in a fake encounter case. The home ministry stated in parliament that in the five years to January 2022, there were 655 registered cases of police encounter deaths around the country, with Chhattisgarh (191) and UP (117) topping the list. Accountability is a welcome, crucial step in police reforms.

THERE was a time not too long ago that a sense of utter contempt, almost bordering on a deep-seated hatred of the political class, used to be visible while citizens voiced their opinions. Jagdeep S Chhokar, IIM professor and founding member of the Association of Democratic Reforms, had once quoted from a letter to the editor after the 1999 general elections, in which the writer said: "Thank god! The verbal cacophony, throwing of abuses and trading of charges by parties with each other is over... What democratic values will this bunch of self-appointed leaders propagate with such narrow-minded approaches? Our democracy ends the day we cast our vote."

Way back in 1981, Krishan Kant, a senior political leader who later became India's vice-president, had observed: "While in the 1950s an MP or an MLA was considered a representative of the people, in the 1960s they came to be known as their advocates; and now people think that they elect their dalals, or brokers." Krishan Kant's assessment was echoed by Rajiv Gandhi in 1985 using the same term when he denounced the tendency of party workers to function as power-brokers.

However, neither Krishan Kant nor Rajiv Gandhi did anything substantial to restore the credibility of politicians. Thanks to the Narendra Modi-led government's performance, popular respect for politicians has been fairly restored. The prime minister established things can be made to work. This has greatly reduced the overall disdain for the political class in general. Such contempt for politics and politicians is detrimental to democracy. Now that the ground situation has changed to a considerable extent, can we expect the quality of electoral campaigns to improve too?

Since the Election Commission has announced the schedule for elections, the question of the quality of political discourse in general and the election campaign in particular becomes all the more relevant. Election campaigns, ideally, have to be about public accountability of political parties and their candidates, public education on key issues, and a serious exercise towards opinion-making in a much more authentic way than at other times. Sadly, we find that in our established ways of campaigning over the years, blitzkrieg, brouhaha and bad-mouthing have pushed accountability, education and opinion-making to the periphery. This doesn't augur well for the health of our democracy.

To start with, a number of practicable measures could be taken to strengthen the element of accountability of elected representatives. The mandate an elected representative gets is basically to serve the people. Hence, it is the right of voters to be well-equipped to assess the quality of service their representative provides them. To that end, can't we make a rule mandating all elected representatives to file annual reports to the electorate? Such a report must reflect upon the representatives' performance in the legislature. Details of the judicious use of the Local Area Development Fund must figure in it. It must mention the extent to which the representative has been able to ensure that the maximum number of eligible persons have taken advantage of government welfare programmes and development schemes.

An elected representative must also be compelled to file a statement about the assurances given and acted upon. Mandatory publication of manifestos by contesting parties at respective levels, followed by a compulsory action taken report would go a long way. Even parties that have lost an election could be asked to give information about their efforts to follow up on their promises. If such measures are implemented, they would automatically help prepare a representative's progress report, facilitating informed voting.

These accountability measures would prevent efforts of winning popular support through 'revadi' distribution. The more we make our elected representatives accountable to voters, the greater would be the chances of cleansing our campaigns, liberating them from unfair practices.

Besides accountability, massive efforts for public or voter education are a must. Considering the centrality of the element of choice for the overall health of democracy, education must help voters take informed decisions. Obviously then, voter education efforts will have to be multi-pronged and undertaken all through the period between elections. Before voting, relevant details of candidates' assets could be mandatorily given publicity on government TV channels and All India Radio.

No matter whether the election is for parliament or a state assembly it must be made mandatory for the candidates to prepare and publicise a constituency manifesto. Such measures would help combining issues of global and national concern with local situations. Shared opportunities to all recognised political parties to explain their manifestos—not just via Doordarshan, but also on private news channels—almost simultaneously will also provide fillip to voter education. Voter education will lead to greater participation of voters, and for that, candidates should be allocated public spaces to display highlights of their manifestos and their track-record of implementation. Also, to ensure a level playing field for all political parties, it would be great if the usage of public grounds for public meetings is also distributed in a calibrated manner and at a reasonable price. If elections are truly a festival of democracy, then articulation through posters, banners and hoardings must be allowed in a regulated manner to all the contesting political parties, if not individual candidates.

The third important segment is of opinion-making. Here, the major challenges are of wantonly spread misinformation and manufacturing of narratives through clever ways of adulterating news with views. Prevention of adulteration of news with views, practised by umpteen local channels and newspapers, must get top priority. At least during the period the Model Code of Conduct is in play, the Election Commission should monitor the content of local news channels and, in these days, even key YouTube channels. Unless closely monitored, these channels can become vehicles for surrogate propaganda.

Our parliamentary and representative democracy has evolved over the last several decades. It has undergone several reforms. If we now try introducing key campaign reforms, it may help shape the narrative for political reforms. While reforms like 'one nation, one election' may take time, nothing prevents us from plucking these delicious low-hanging fruits.

DISCONTENT IN KARNATAKA BJP CAMP, APATHY IN CONG

B S ARUN
Senior journalist based in Bengaluru

BOTH the Congress and the BJP appear to be sailing in choppy waters in Karnataka. While the Congress is grappling to find candidates in several constituencies, the BJP is encountering rebellion in some seats following the announcement of candidates to 20 of the state's 28 Lok Sabha seats.

The importance of the southern state for both parties cannot be overstated. The BJP has been doing well here; it won 25 seats in 2019 and helped an independent, Sumalatha—film star and wife of former Union minister Ambareesh—win. The BJP's gateway to south India is vital for the party to realise its dream of 370 seats in the Lok Sabha, while a good tally from here is key for the Congress to come out of the ignominy it has faced in the last two general elections. The Congress, after winning the assembly elections almost a year ago, has set itself a target of 20 seats this time. The BJP is in alliance with the JD(S), which had tied up with the Congress in 2019.

Over the last few weeks, the Congress has struggled to convince about 10 ministers of the Siddaramaiah government to contest, but all of them refused. Efforts are going on to convince some other MLAs, but even they seem unwilling. It has announced candidates for seven seats where there were no problems regarding nominees. The struggle to find candidates is more pronounced in the three Bengaluru city seats, which the party has not won for long. It has been losing the Bangalore South seat since 1991.

The saffron outfit dropped nine sitting MPs (some of them wanted to retire), renominated 10 MPs despite some of them facing opposition from the party cadre, and brought in seven new faces including noted cardiac surgeon Dr C N Manjunath (Bangalore Rural), who is the son-in-law of former PM H D Deve Gowda.

The BJP is facing backlash from party workers for different reasons in Udupi-Chikmagalur, Mysuru, Tumkur, Bidar, Vijayapura, Koppal, Haveri, Davanagere, Chamarajanagar, Bengaluru North, Chikballapur, Chitradurga, Hassan and Uttara Kannada. Former minister and founding member of the BJP in the state, K S Eshwarappa, rebelled against the party for denying his son K E Kanthesh a ticket from Haveri, from where the party has decided to field former CM Basavaraj Bommai. Haveri has a good chunk of voters from the backward Kuruba (shepherd) community, to which Kanthesh belongs. By fielding Bommai, the party has sent a signal to his Lingayat community, which is in large numbers in this region.

Eight of the 20 BJP candidates are Lingayats, which underscores the party's efforts to win back the community that voted against it in the last assembly polls. Following the unceremonious sacking of CM

EXPRESS PHOTO

While announcing candidates to 20 of Karnataka's 28 seats, the BJP dropped nine sitting MPs and renominated a few who are unpopular with its state cadre. Meanwhile the Congress is finding it difficult to inspire state legislators to go to Delhi

Veerendra Patil, a Lingayat, by the Congress in 1990 and the efforts of veteran BJP leader B S Yediyurappa, a fellow Lingayat, the community had embraced the BJP, but deserted it last year.

Eshwarappa, who was reportedly denied an assembly ticket following corruption allegations, has decided to contest from Shivamogga as an independent candidate, despite some senior BJP leaders trying to convince him otherwise. Former minister B C Patil, who had demanded a ticket from Haveri, said he would take a call soon after being denied nomination.

Another seat that has seen rebellion is Davanagere, where the BJP has fielded Gayathri Siddeshwara, wife of outgoing MP G M Siddeshwara. Here, several party leaders including former minister Renukacharya demanded a ticket. Like Siddeshwara, whose father G S Mallikarjunappa was also an MP, this constituency is likely to see a contest from another powerful political family, that of Shyamanur Shivashankarappa of the Congress. All these leaders hail from the Lingayat community.

In Mysuru, sitting MP Pratap Simha ridiculed Yaduveer Wadiyar of the erstwhile royal family before and after his selection. Simha's ticket was denied apparently as he issued passes to those who disrupted the Lok Sabha last year with smoke canisters. But Simha, a former journalist, antagonised several local leaders too.

In Udupi-Chikmagalur, party workers protested against sitting MP and Union minister Shobha Karandlaje being given a ticket, alleging that she rarely visited the Western Ghat constituency after her victory. A long-time confidant of Yediyurappa, Shobha has been given the Bangalore North ticket. The party also ignored the claims of former national general secretary C T Ravi for a ticket from Udupi-Chikmagalur. He lost from Chikmagalur in the last assembly elections. Union minister Bhagvant Khuba has faced opposition from party leaders and cadre in Bidar.

Also denied a ticket was four-time MP and former state unit president Nalin Kateel from Dakshina Kannada. Kateel faced opposition from party workers for long. The sitting MP from Uttara Kannada, Ananth Kumar Hegde, has come under fire from the Congress for his controversial remarks on Gandhiji and the Constitution. The Hindutva firebrand said the NDA needs 400 seats in the Lok Sabha to amend the Constitution. The party, which has distanced itself from the statement, is yet to take a call on his candidature, though he won with a margin of over four lakh in 2019.

Yediyurappa appears to continue to call the shots. The ticket distribution reflects his choices, over those of his rival, BJP general secretary B L Santosh. The dropping of Kateel, Simha, and the denial of a ticket to Ravi—all supporters of Santosh—are pointers to the equation.

Erroneous gamble?

The BJP high command's decision to field its former state president and till recently the governor of Telangana and lieutenant governor of Puducherry, Tamilisai Soundararajan, in the Lok Sabha elections is a gamble that might not fetch any dividend. She is hardly popular in Chennai, from where she is likely to contest. Her performance as the BJP's state president was lacklustre.
C V Aravind, Chennai

Contradicting terms

Tamilisai Soundararajan says no governor can act for the welfare of the people. One wonders, then, why she had so much controversy with the BRS government, which consisted of a majority of people's elected representatives. She also labels herself a 'people's governor', once again contradicting her words that she came out of the post to serve the people.

CWC leaves final touches in manifesto to Kharge's court

> Congress' five guarantees are going to be a game-changer in this election
>
> KC Venugopal, Congress leader

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE Congress Working Committee, the party's apex decision-making body, on Tuesday deliberated upon the election manifesto for the Lok Sabha polls, which has a heavy thrust on the party's 'nyay' agenda, and authorised party chief Mallikarjun Kharge to give final shape to it.

Addressing a press conference after the CWC meeting, Congress leader KC Venugopal said that the party will build on the momentum of the Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra, during which it announced five guarantees. A plan has been prepared to take the message of the guarantees to the grassroots level, he said.

The centerpiece of the manifesto is the guarantees for youth, women, farmers and labourers as well as the promise of a caste census.

"These five guarantees are going to be a game-changer in this election," said Venugopal, adding that the BJP's "guarantees" are mere rhetoric and a "bunch of lies".

Sources said the manifesto also includes the promise of implementing the old pension scheme (OPS) across the country and a law to ensure the independence of constitutional institutions and stop "misuse" of agencies.

Addressing the media, AICC general secretary Jairam Ramesh said the Congress will release not just a manifesto but a 'nyay patra' so that people see a bright future.

The CWC lauded the guarantees released during Rahul Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra and discussed a roadmap to take these to every household in the country.

Ramesh said the aim is to take the guarantees under the 'Panch Nyay' — 'Nari Nyay', 'Shramik Nyay', 'Kisaan Nyay', 'Yuva Nyay' and 'Hissedari Nyay' — to every household.

Under the 'Yuva Nyay', the party has promised 'Bharti Bharosa' — 30 lakh new Central government jobs, according to a jobs calendar. Under the 'Pehli Naukri Pakki', the Congress has promised a one-year paid apprenticeship for all educated youths at ₹1 lakh a year or ₹8,500 a month.

The party has promised a law to ensure government recruitment examination question papers are not leaked and also better working conditions and social security for gig workers.

Scheme for women

As part of the 'Nari Nyay', the Congress has promised the 'Mahalakshmi' guarantee of ₹1 lakh a year for one woman in every poor family in the country.

Performance matters: Several MPs may not figure in 3rd list

> The seat-sharing is almost finalised with two seats — Baghpat and Bijnor — tentatively going to the RLD. The Ghosi seat is expected to go to the SBSP
>
> BJP leader

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

THE BJP appears ready to spring yet another surprise with its third list of Lok Sabha candidates for many states, including Uttar Pradesh and Bihar. This round of dropping some high-profile sitting MPs will have a major bearing on politically crucial UP and Bihar. Put together, the two states send 120 MPs — 80 in UP and 40 in Bihar to Lok Sabha.

Top BJP sources told this newspaper on Tuesday that the party would "mostly likely" change candidates on two seats, Pilibhit and Sultanpur, both in UP, represented by Varun Gandhi and his mother Maneka Sanjay Gandhi.

At a recent meeting of the party's core committee for UP and Bihar, the members discussed the scheme of things with party chief JP Nadda and home minister Amit Shah. It was decided to take the discussions to the next level at the forthcoming third meeting of Central Election Committee.

"The seat-sharing is almost finalised with two seats — Baghpat and Bijnor — tentatively going to the RLD. The Ghosi seat is expected to go to the SBSP, while Apna Dal could have Mirzapur and Robertganj. As many as 28 LS seats, including Meerut, Pilibhit and Sultanpur, have been discussed," said a senior leader.

The party leadership is reportedly determined to field journalist-turned-politician and BJP national spokesperson Prem Kumar Shukla from Sultanpur. Shukla belongs to UP and joined the party about nine years ago from Shiv Sena.

The other names doing the rounds are Sanjay Singh Gangwar and Jitin Prasada. The two are in the Yogi government, with Gangwar being MLA from Pilibhit. Sources said Varun Gandhi has turned a strong critic of the government at the Centre and that it was becoming difficult to accommodate him.

"The final decisions on these two LS seats is to be taken by the CEC, which usually does not amend the list of shortlisted candidates," said a party source, adding that the Meerut seat may also see a new face.

The buzz is about two candidates for Meerut seat: Arun Govil, who played Lord Ram in TV serial Ramayana, and Kumar Vishwas, an articulate speaker. Another theory is that Nupur Sharma could be considered from Rae Barelli seat.

Adhir to contest from Berhampore, talks on with Left

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE Congress may soon release the third list of candidates for the upcoming Lok Sabha polls, according to leaders who attended the Central Election Committee (CEC) meeting on Tuesday. The party has so far announced candidates for 82 Lok Sabha seats of the total 543.

The meeting also decided candidates for as many as 12 seats in West Bengal, according to sources. The uncertainty over seat-sharing talks with the Trinamool Congress (TMC) has delayed the decision, as Congress was hopeful of closing a deal with the Mamata Banerjee-led party. However, the TMC has announced candidates for all 42 Lok Sabha seats recently. The TMC has also fielded former cricketer Yusuf Pathan from the Berhampore seat, held by state Congress President Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury. Chowdhury has been a MP from Berhampore since 1999. Chowdhury's constant attack on Mamata Banerjee was one of the reasons for the breakdown of the seat-sharing talks between both the parties.

The Congress is also in talks with the CPM-led Left Front in the state. The Left parties have already announced a list of 16 candidates for the Lok Sabha polls while making it clear that the party is keeping its options open for Congress. Sources said that the seat-sharing talks between CPM and the Congress are in progress.

The meeting discussed the names of candidates for over 80 seats in states including West Bengal, Arunachal Pradesh, Chandigarh, Andaman and Nicobar Islands, and the remaining seats for Karnataka, Rajasthan and Madhya Pradesh, among others.

Hinting that the third list of candidates will be released on Wednesday, Karnataka Chief Minister M Siddaramaiah told the media, "We will announce our list of candidates on Wednesday." Karnataka sends 28 members to the Lok Sabha.

After the meeting, AICC-incharge of Rajasthan, Sukhjinder Singh Randhawa also said, "We will have a meeting on Wednesday and settle it."

Sources said that decision on six seats has been taken in Telangana. In the first round, four seats have been announced. Chevella MP Ranjit Reddy, who crossed over to Congress from BRS recently, will be fielded from either Malkajgiri or Chevella, said sources. Former BRS MLA Danam Nagender will be fielded from Secunderabad.

Cracks in INDIA widens as Tharoor, Raja in war of words over Wayanad

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

TENSIONS seems to be brewing between the Communist Party of India (CPI) and the Congress over its former president Rahul Gandhi's renomination from Wayanad parliamentary constituency in Kerala. CPI leader Annie Raja, who is also the wife of party general secretary D Raja, is nominated from the same seat.

Hitting out at the Left party, senior Congress leader Shashi Tharoor on Tuesday said that CPI is complaining about Gandhi's candidature in Wayanad and ironically "playing the BJP's game" in Thiruvananthapuram.

"It's ironic that the same @cpofindia that complains about @RahulGandhi's candidature in Wayanad is playing the BJP's game in Thiruvananthapuram. The only effect of the CPI's campaign against me in Thiruvananthapuram is to divide the anti-BJP vote. And they preach alliance dharma in Wayanad!" Tharoor posted on X.

Condemning Tharoor's remark, Raja said that the Congress leader should understand the history of Kerala and the Indian Communist movement. It is the Communist movement that has been fighting the communal forces consistently in the country and state, he said.

"I consider the statement (of Tharoor) as absurd. Mr Tharoor is considered to be a well-educated man. He should understand politics and the history of Kerala properly. He should take a look in the mirror. We are the consistent force in the country continuing to fight the fascist communal forces and critics of the RSS-BJP combine," said Raja.

The Congress and the CPI are part of the opposition alliance INDIA. However, in Kerala they are contesting against each other as part of the rival state blocs — United Democratic Front (UDF) and Left Democratic Front (LDF).

Tharoor, a three-time MP from Thiruvananthapuram is seeking re-election from the same seat. Criticising Tharoor, the CPI veteran further said that the Congress must explain Gandhi's candidature from Wayanad against the LDF if the party is fighting the BJP.

"If somebody is dividing the vote in Thiruvananthapuram, go and contest somewhere else. I tell this for Rahul Gandhi also. He claims to be spearheading the campaign against the BJP and RSS. But when it comes to electoral battles, why go to Wayanad and fight the Left?" asked Raja.

Last week, Raja had said that a leader of Rahul Gandhi's stature should have contested a seat where he could directly challenge the BJP.

Lokpal orders CBI probe against Mahua

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Lokpal on Tuesday issued an order asking the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) to register a case under provisions of the Prevention of Corruption Act (PCA) against TMC leader Mahua Moitra and probe the allegations of cash-for query in Lok Sabha against her.

The Lokpal's directive to the CBI has come, as the probity ombudsman decided on the complaint filed by BJP MP Nishikant Dubey, who has alleged that Moitra had asked questions in the Lower House of Parliament in exchange for cash and gifts from Dubai-based businessman Darshan Hiranandani.

"After careful evaluation and consideration of the entire material on record, we direct the CBI, under Section 20(3)(a) to investigate all aspects of the allegations made in the complaint, and submit a copy of the Investigation Report within a period of six months from the date of receipt of this order. The CBI shall also file periodical reports regarding the status of the investigation, every month," the Lokpal order said.

Referring to Moitra as Respondent Public Servant (RPS), the ombudsman further said that there remained "no doubt" regarding the fact that the allegations levelled against the RPS, most of which are supported by cogent evidence, "are extremely serious in nature, especially in view of the position held by her."

"Therefore, in our considered opinion, a deeper probe is required to establish the truth," it further said.

The order has been issued by a Lokpal bench comprising Justice Abhilasha Kumari and members Archana Ramasundaram and Mahender Singh.

'Absurd and baseless': India rejects China's claim over Arunachal Pradesh

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA has rejected China's claims on Arunachal Pradesh, terming it absurd and baseless.

"We have noted the comments made by the Chinese Defence Ministry spokesperson, advancing absurd claims over the territory of the Indian State of Arunachal Pradesh. Repeating baseless arguments does not lend validity to such claims. Arunachal Pradesh was, is, and will always be an integral and inalienable part of India," said Randhir Jaiswal, Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) spokesperson.

"Arunachal Pradesh's people will continue to benefit from our development programmes and infrastructure projects," Jaiswal added. This comment was based on a reply by Chinese Defence Ministry spokesperson Zhang Xiaogang when questioned on the Sela tunnel, where he said Zangnan was a part of the Chinese territory.

> Repeating baseless arguments does not lend validity to such claims. Arunachal Pradesh was, is and will always be an integral and inalienable part of India
>
> Randhir Jaiswal, MEA spokesperson

The Chinese military's comments came a few days after India sent a strong rebuttal to the country for the latter's comments on Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to Arunachal Pradesh.

In an earlier statement, MEA noted that China's objection to visits by Indian leaders or India's developmental projects "does not stand to reason."

"Zangnan is China's inherent territory. China never recognises, and is firmly opposed to, India's illegal establishment of Arunachal Pradesh," Xiaogang had said last week.

The Chinese spokesperson also said that the overall situation along the China-India border was stable, and both sides maintained effective communication through diplomatic and military channels to address border issues.

"India's actions are contrary to the efforts of both sides to ease the border situation and are not conducive to maintaining peace and tranquillity in border areas. We require the Indian side to cease any action that may complicate the boundary question, and earnestly maintain peace and stability in border areas," said the Chinese spokesperson, adding the Chinese military was vigilant.

The neighbours share more than a 3,000-km frontier, much of it poorly demarcated.

Ajit Pawar told to notify clock symbol as sub-judice

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court, in its order on Tuesday, refused to stay the Election Commission of India's (EC) decision to grant the 'clock' symbol to the Ajit Pawar faction of Nationalist Congress Party (NCP).

Instead, it allowed the Sharad Pawar faction to use its 'man blowing a trumpet' symbol for the upcoming Lok Sabha and assembly polls.

The Sharad Pawar group had moved top court on February 12, challenging the EC's recognition of the Ajit Pawar faction as the real NCP.

The court instructed the EC to reserve the 'man blowing a trumpet' symbol for the NCP(SP), prohibiting its allocation to any other party or candidate until the court revisits the plea of party.

Moreover, the apex court directed the Ajit Pawar faction to issue a public notice in English, Hindi and Marathi, stating in all campaign advertisements that the 'clock' symbol allocated to them is subject to the pending adjudication of the plea filed by the Sharad Pawar-led faction.

It is important to note that in July 2023, the NCP split into two groups after Ajit Pawar, Sharad Pawar's nephew, along with several MLAs, joined the ruling alliance of Shiv Sena and BJP in Maharashtra, prompting the Sharad Pawar-led group to seek relief from the apex court.

During the previous hearing on March 14, the Supreme Court cautioned the Ajit Pawar faction against using Sharad Pawar's name and image in posters.

The apex court had earlier suggested orally to the Ajit Pawar group to select a symbol other than the 'clock' for elections to avoid confusion.

The petition filed by the Sharad Pawar-led faction before the court challenged the allocation of the 'clock' symbol to the Ajit Pawar faction, among other prayers.

The Supreme Court on Tuesday directed all the states and Union territories to provide within two months ration cards to migrant labourers registered on the e-shram portal for availing benefits of various schemes of the government. A bench of justices Hima Kohli and Ahsanuddin Amanullah took note that the authorities have failed to comply with the court's April 20, 2023 directions by which it had granted three months' time to them to provide rations cards to the labourers. The apex court said unnecessary delays were being caused by putting in impediments such as requiring eKYC of all 80 crore ration card-holders to be updated before the direction could be compiled with.

Mathura mosque panel plea against HC decision nixed

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Tuesday dismissed an appeal filed by the mosque committee contesting the Allahabad High Court's decision to consolidate 15 suits related to the Krishna Janmabhoomi versus Shahi Idgah Masjid dispute.

In May 2023, the Allahabad High Court had assumed jurisdiction over all suits concerning the dispute, prompting the mosque committee to challenge this decision in the apex court.

The two-judge bench comprising Justices Sanjiv Khanna and Dipankar Dutta on Tuesday upheld that the jurisdiction over this matter exclusively rests with the high court.

"The mosque trust is granted the liberty to reopen the current appeal if dissatisfied with the prior ruling," said the bench said in its order.

Unease in Gujarat BJP amid Cong heavyweights' influx

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

Tensions within the Gujarat BJP have escalated after the announcement of Lok Sabha elections following an influx of Congress leaders into the party, besides internal divisions at the local level. Adding to the turmoil, Ketan Inamdar, a three-term BJP MLA from Gujarat, announced his resignation from the state assembly on Tuesday.

He cited his "inner conscience" for his decision, emphasizing the importance of "self-respect amidst perceived inaction." However, following persuasion from the state party chief, he retracted his resignation within hours. Frustrated by the continuous migration of Congress leaders and other party members into the BJP, the Savli MLA emailed his resignation to Assembly Speaker Shankar Chaudhary on March 19.

Efforts were made to persuade him to reconsider his decision. The MLA from Jamnagar, along with the Vadodara district in-charge, visited Savli to persuade the MLA. Inamdar was then called to Gandhinagar where he attended a meeting with state party chief CR Patil. He later withdrew his resignation.

"I shared my grievances and concerns with Patil. I engaged in introspection and spoke from my heart. Our dialogue took place in a constructive environment. It was crucial to honour the dedication of devoted party workers. Each individual has a unique approach to work. There's no personal animosity. I withdraw my resignation," Inamdar said. The Savli constituency is located in Vadodara district.

Earlier in the morning after his resignation, the three-term MLA conveyed to the media: "This isn't a tactic to exert pressure. I've long felt that the party has overlooked the welfare of its grassroots and veteran members. I've brought this concern to the attention of the leadership."

Inamdar has a history of tendering resignations and subsequently withdrawing them. In January 2020, he announced his resignation as an MLA, although the Speaker did not accept it.

BJP eyes Raj to check Uddhav for 'Marathi manoos'

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

Union home minister Amit Shah met MNS leader Raj Thackeray on Tuesday in Delhi promising to take him on board by leaving one or two seats for the Lok Sabha elections in a move to dent Uddhav Thackeray's Marathi votes.

"I was called, so I came to Delhi," Raj told reporters in Delhi. He along with his son Amit Thackeray flew to Delhi on Monday night. Sources in MNS said Raj has clarified to the BJP leadership that he wants two Lok Sabha seats for his party. MNS leader Bala Nandgaonkar said the meeting between Shah and Raj Thackeray was "very positive" and the result will be out soon.

A senior BJP leader said they were in touch with Raj Thackeray for the last two years and toying with the idea of taking him in because of his anti-north Indian tirade. "Raj Thackeray may help us get Marathi votes but there is the fear of losing the north Indian votes," he said.

Cong, Uddhav in Maha disagreement over Sangli LS seat

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Congress and Uddhav Thackeray-led Shiv Sena, allies in Maha Vikas Aghadi, staked claim over the Sangli Lok Sabha seat, bringing to the fore differences in the Maharashtra alliance.

Maharashtra Congress expressed displeasure over Shiv Sena (UBT) leader Sanjay Raut announcing Chandrahar Patil as the candidate for Sangli before the seat-sharing formula is finalised.

"Congress will contest the Sangli Lok Sabha seat and its candidate Vishal Patil, who is grandson of former Maharashtra chief minister Vasant Dada Patil, has already stated his campaign as well," Maharashtra Congress president Nana Patole said. "Sanjay Raut should follow the decorum and code of conduct of the alliance. Raut should not be in a hurry to declare candidates and spoil the alliance before its finalization of seat sharing," he said.

A Maharashtra Congress delegation, comprising Patole, party legislature party leader Balasaheb Thorat and others, flew to Delhi to meet Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge, Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi to express their displeasure against Raut for his hasty decision .

'Exploration licence' for strategic minerals

Chhattisgarh, rich in natural and mineral resources, as part of its mineral reconnaissance strategy is encouraging the private sector's participation with a focus to explore the potential sites and sources of rare strategic minerals. To begin with, the three mineral blocks of diamond and rare-earth elements (REE) group of minerals in the districts of Kondagaon, Narayanpur and Bastar have been taken up by the government. Some of the REE among the 29 rare and deep-seated minerals found in Chhattisgarh are those imported by India. The move will facilitate fast-tracking the exploration of rare minerals.

Worrying decline of leopards' population

The state not only had a depressing performance on the 'save the tiger' mission but also recorded an unprecedented decline of 55 per cent in the population of leopards compared to the 2018 figure in all its three Tiger Reserves. According to the National Tiger Conservation Authority report, there were 240 leopards in the three Tiger Reserves of Chhattisgarh in 2018 and number dwindled to just 107 in 2022. Though the survey report stated that across the country the number of leopards increased to 13,874 in 2022 from 12,852 in 2018. The state forest department was held accountable.

North Chhattisgarh to get air connectivity

Darima airport Ambikapur in north Chhattisgarh gets a license from the director general of civil aviation (DGCA) to begin flight operations. 'Maa Mahamaya airport' in Ambikapur will be the third licensed airport besides Bilaspur and Jagdalpur under the Regional Connectivity Scheme. The license was granted after inspection of the essential specifications and requisite infrastructure of the airport by DGCA team. Recently, the Bureau of Civil Aviation Security confirmed the airport's suitability for safe flight operations. With the acquisition of the 3-C VFR category license, the airport can now start the air services via 72-seater aircraft.

Raj discomfort as Raje loyalists ignored

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

EVER since the BJP leadership bypassed former CM Vasundhara Raje in the selection process for the chief minister's post in Rajasthan post-2023 assembly polls, many of her loyalists have faced the heat in the state party edifice.

The latest example is of a senior sitting MLA from Nimbahera in south Rajasthan and a former cabinet minister of the state Srichand Kriplani. He has complained that he was not offered a chair at a function headed by CM Bhajanlal Sharma on Tuesday. An upset Kriplani, who is also a twice Lok Sabha MP, chose to sit among the ordinary party workers in the crowd by way of expressing his displeasure.

There are signs that the rift within the Rajasthan BJP is widening as senior leaders close to Raje are now being sidelined. The latest incident unfolded at a meeting on Tuesday chaired by CM Bhajanlal Sharma about the ground situation in Udaipur, Banswara, and Chittorgarh Lok Sabha seats.

Chairs bearing the names of prominent leaders, including Kriplani and Salumber MLA Amritlal Meena, were reportedly absent from the stage. Meena is also considered a prominent Raje loyalist.

The episode echoes the recent departure of Rahul Kaswan, who exited from the party to join Congress after being denied the ticket. Kaswan's departure reportedly stemmed from his rift with Rajendra Rathore and his allegiance to Raje.

A further indication of an internal discord is a buzz around Prahlad Gunjal, an influential leader from the Hadoti region, who openly criticized the party leadership during the previous assembly elections for not nominating Raje as the CM candidate. Party sources say that Gunjal, a Gujjar strongman, has been sidelined by the party, prompting speculation over his defection to Congress.

Rohini, Lalu's saviour, may debut from Chhapra

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

A buzz is stirring ahead of the elections for the 18th Lok Sabha, suggesting that Rohini Acharya, daughter of RJD patriarch and advocate for social justice, Lalu Prasad Yadav, is preparing to make her political debut from the high-profile LS seat of Chhapra in Saran, Bihar.

Rohini Acharya has garnered widespread recognition, especially among girls and women, both in Bihar and beyond, following her selfless act of donating one of her kidneys to her ailing father last year, which facilitated a successful transplant in Singapore. Currently residing in Singapore with her husband and two children, she remains actively engaged on social media, particularly in critiquing the BJP's political agenda.

Known for her incisive and witty commentary against parties opposing the Mahagatbandhan, particularly the BJP and Nitish Kumar's JDU, Rohini Acharya enjoys immense popularity among women voters of all backgrounds in Bihar. Sources within the RJD indicate a growing demand among party workers to field her from the Saran LS seat, previously held by her father. Her popularity, compelling oratory, and approachability are cited as reasons for this momentum.

RJD MLC Sunil Kumar Singh indirectly hinted at the possibility of Rohini entering parliamentary politics, citing the demand from RJD workers in Saran. Yadav votes hold sway in many assembly constituencies, followed by Rajputs, Bhumihars, and Muslims.

Sidhuism to walk out of cricket, Patiala poll fields

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

IN the lead-up to the forthcoming Lok Sabha elections, cricketer-turned-politician Navjot Singh Sidhu is poised to make his return to the commentary box, featuring during the IPL 2024, which commences on March 23.

This decision potentially puts the Congress party in a dilemma, considering their contemplation of fielding him in Patiala against the incumbent Member of Parliament, Preneet Kaur, who defected from the Congress to join the BJP last week. Consequently, Sidhu's future in politics remains shrouded in suspense.

The former Punjab Congress President and erstwhile cabinet minister, 60-year-old Sidhu, previously enjoyed popularity as a cricket commentator, renowned for his witty remarks and memorable one-liners before his foray into politics two decades ago.

Star Sports confirmed Sidhu's return to the commentary box with a post on X, stating, "A wise man once said, 'Hope is the biggest 'tope'.' And this wise man, the great @sherryontopp himself, has joined our Incredible StarCast!"

Sidhu has maintained a low profile since his release from jail in April last year, following his incarceration in a 1988 road rage case.

He has also been at odds with Punjab Congress President Amarinder Singh Raja Warring and the leader of the opposition, Partap Singh Bajwa, avoiding events organized by the grand old party.

Instead, he held his own parallel gatherings, often targeting the Aam Aadmi Party government. The state unit of the Congress suspended some of his supporters for organizing these rallies.

Within 24 hrs, Bengal gets new DGP after EC prod

PRANAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

THE Election Commission of India appointed Sanjay Mukherjee, a 1989 IPS officer and son of former special advisor to Indrajit Gupta when he was the Union Home minister, as the director general of police, West Bengal, on Tuesday.

Mukherjee, belongs to a decorated family as his former IAS brother Amitava Mukherjee presently working with World Bank, Washington, was selected as the chief of the state police a day after Vivek Sahay, a 1988 batch IPS officer, as the state DGP.

The changes in the top level of the state police hierarchy took place after the ECI removed controversial IPS officer Rajeev Kumar from the post of the DGP on Monday, who was appointed by Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee three months ago, with immediate effect, within 5 pm on Monday.

"The state government sent three names, Vivek Sahay, Sanjay Mukherjee and Rajesh Kumar, as the replacement of the IIT, Computer Science, IPS officers' replacement, to the governor on Monday. The governor appointed Sahay as the new DGP. But it was later noticed that Sahay is scheduled to superannuate on May 31, four days before the results of the polls. So, the poll panel appointed Mukherjee as the DGP who can serve till the model code of conduct will be in place," said a senior officer.

If an officer is shunted from poll duty during the MCC, they will not be allowed to perform in electoral exercise during rest of service tenure.

Poll panel transfers Jalandhar DC, ADGP

The Election Commission on Tuesday ordered the transfer of the Jalandhar deputy commissioner, an additional director general of police and a deputy inspector general of police in Punjab, according to an official statement. The action has been taken on the basis of a complaint received, it said.

FOR EU ENVOY, TARGET IS TO INCREASE TRADE WITH INDIA

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

AMBASSADOR of the European Union (EU) to India, Hervé Delphin, is a man on a mission. He aims to increase trade between the EU and India.

In an exclusive interview with The New Indian Express, Delphin said, "We are working on a Free Trade Agreement and we are working on bringing the EU and India closer."

He said that the EU is the main trading partner of India on par with the United States and the trade volume is close to 130 billion Euros up from about 88 billion Euros just a couple of years ago. Delphin said he is visiting Bengaluru because it is India's IT and BT hub. Both sides have been working hard for what is a consequential Free Trade Agreement to remove trade (and non-trade) barriers and help EU and Indian firms to export more, respectively.

The Indian and EU teams have been holding talks to have an ambitious, comprehensive FTA covering various sectors, including services and public procurement markets. On the EU-India Trade and Technology Council, progress has been made to build more connected tech ecosystems like semiconductors. He said on tangible issues like EV batteries, EU and India are soon launching Expressions of Interest for startups working in the area of electric vehicle battery recycling. It aims to enhance cooperation between India and EU SMEs and startups in the green technologies sector.

Hervé Delphin

Asked about the Russians talking about using nuclear force in Ukraine and about NATO expanding virtually to the Russian borders, Delphin said it is Russia's belligerence that has pushed countries like Sweden to NATO for their own security needs and protection. On India purchasing affordable oil from Russia, he said the G7, including the EU, have been seeking to ensure a cap on prices Russia can draw from its oil sales to curtail revenues that feed its war economy. On the need to accommodate more Indian students in institutions in the EU, he said over 80,000 students of Indian origin chose Europe for higher education in 2022-23. On Indian textiles, he said the Indian genius in textile and craft is so evident and the EU has just launched a call for proposals for 9.5 million Euros and will have all the projects ready by the end of 2024.

HK's new nat'l security law gives govt more power to curb dissent

US, UK and EU say law curtails rights of people; China calls it 'new Great Wall of rule of law'

HONG KONG

HONG Kong's legislature unanimously passed a new national security law on Tuesday, introducing penalties such as life imprisonment for crimes related to treason and insurrection, and up to 20 years' jail for the theft of state secrets.

The law, which the US, UK and the European Union have warned could further curtail freedoms in Hong Kong, was fast-tracked through the city's rubber-stamp legislature.

"Today is a historic moment for Hong Kong," city leader John Lee said after the vote, adding the law would come into effect on March 23.

Commonly referred to as Article 23, the homegrown legislation will work in tandem with the national security law imposed by Beijing in 2020 in the wake of huge and at times violent democracy protests.

The new law punishes dozens of new and revamped offences under five categories: treason, insurrection, theft of state secrets and espionage, sabotage endangering national security, and external interference.

Lee had said the law was needed to plug the legislative gaps left by Beijing's law -- which targets secession, subversion, terrorism and collusion with foreign forces. He had also repeatedly cited Hong Kong's "constitutional responsibility" to create it as required by the Basic Law, the city's mini-constitution since its handover from Britain to China in 1997.

The law "will allow Hong Kong to effectively prevent, prohibit and punish espionage activities, plots and traps set up by foreign intelligence units, infiltration and sabotage carried out by hostile forces," Lee said on Tuesday.

One of the last-minute amendments added last week by the government empowers Lee and his cabinet to create new offences – to account for "unforeseen circumstances" -- punishable by up to seven years in prison.

Penalties run up to life in prison for sabotage endangering national security, treason and insurrection; 20 years for espionage and sabotage; and 14 years for external interference.

It has also expanded the British colonial-era offence of "sedition" to include inciting hatred against China's Communist leadership, with an aggravated sentence up to 10 years in jail. And, as with its 2020 predecessor, some offences committed outside Hong Kong will fall under its jurisdiction.

UK foreign minister David Cameron had urged the government to "reconsider" the law, while the United States had said it "risks compounding the 2020 National Security Law that has curtailed the rights and freedoms of people in Hong Kong".

But the Beijing-run national security office in Hong Kong called it "a new Great Wall of rule of law." It said in a statement that majority of Hong Kong residents will benefit from it. AFP

Mkt falls on valuation, global cues

BOJ's decision to hike rates, Fed meet this week, pricey valuations drag down indices

ARSHAD KHAN @ Chennai

DOMESTIC equity market declined sharply on Wednesday with benchmark indices- BSE Sensex and NSE Nifty50 crashing more than 1% each because of high valuation concerns and sell-off in index heavyweights TCS, Infosys and Reliance and weak Asian cues after Japan's central bank hiked interest rates after a gap of 17 years. The Bank of Japan (BoJ) increased its key interest rate from -0.1% to a range of 0%-0.1%.

Global equity markets were under pressure ahead of the US Federal Reserve's interest rate decision this week. While it is believed that the Fed would keep rates unchanged, focus is on Fed Chair Jerome Powell's comments related to future course of actions, especially its stance on recent inflation data. Sensex fell 736 points, or 1.01%, to close the Wednesday session at 72,012.05 while the Nifty 50 closed the day at 21,817.45, down 238 points, or 1.08%. Following the fall over the past two weeks, Sensex's return has turned in 2024 while Nifty is trading at a flat level. Between March 7 and March 19, the two indexes have corrected by nearly 3% each.

Following BoJ's decision to hike rates for first time in 17 years, Asian peers' mood turned sour, which pulled Indian market. The correction in domestic market has also been triggered by concerns over premium valuations — Vinod Nair, Head of Research, Geojit Financial Services

"Following the BoJ's decision to hike interest rates for the first time in 17 years, the Asian peers' mood turned sour, which pulled the Indian market to continue its recent pessimism. The correction in the domestic market has also been triggered by concerns over premium valuations and the delay of rate cuts by the US Fed due to hotter-than-expected inflation, which is evident from the upward trend in the dollar index," said Vinod Nair, Head of Research, Geojit Financial Services.

The rupee depreciated by 13 paise, closing at Rs 83.04 against the US dollar, the lowest level in a month. The decline was driven by a significant rise in the dollar index, which surged by $0.70 to $103.70.

The broader market fell steeper than benchmarks as Nifty Midcap 100 and Nifty SmallCap 100 shed about 1.20% point each. Small and mid stocks have been under pressure since late February following market regulator Sebi's warning that "froth" is building up in the broader market.

Owing to this widespread sell-off, investors lost a whopping Rs 5 lakh crore on Wednesday as the m-cap of all BSE listed dropped to nearly ₹373.9 lakh crore from ₹378.8 lakh crore in the previous session. Brokerage Phillip Capital said the market is highly overbought from a long-term perspective.

BOJ ENDS NEGATIVE INTEREST RATE POLICY AFTER 17 YRS

The Bank of Japan (BOJ) said on Tuesday it would raise interest rates on ordinary yen deposits for the first time in 17 years. The BOJ on Thursday ditched its negative rate policy, where the central bank applied a -0.1% interest rate on a small pool of excess reserves parked with it by financial institutions. It set the overnight call rate as its new policy rate and decided to guide it in a range of 0-0.1% partly by paying 0.1% interest to deposits at the central bank. In response to the shift, MUFG Bank and Sumitomo Mitsui Banking Corp separately said they would lift interest rates on ordinary yen deposits from 0.001% now to 0.02%, a level last seen in 2016. Both would be the first such increases since February 2007. The latest policy shift would help widen the spread between deposit and lending rates.

CHINA

ECONOMY SEES SIGNS OF IMPROVEMENT

The manufacturing and investment improved in China in the first two months of the year even as weakness in the property sector weighed on the economy, the National Bureau of Statistics said Monday. Industrial output jumped 7% from a year earlier in January-February, better than analysts had forecast. Spending on factories and equipment, known as fixed-asset investments, rose 4.2%. The real estate sector remained sluggish, with investment in real estate falling 9% in January-February compared to the same period a year earlier. The property market is 'still in a state of adjustment and transition' but policies outlined at China's annual legislative session earlier this month will promote 'stable and healthy development," National Bureau of Statistics spokesperson Liu Aihua told reporters. During the National People's Congress meetings, China's leaders pledged to refine property sector policies, including increasing financing to developers.

SINGAPORE

EXPORTS FALL SLIGHTLY IN FEBRUARY

The non-oil exports of Singapore declined unexpectedly in February. However, economists still see encouraging signs of a better trade outlook ahead. Analysts had forecasted a growth of 4.7% for February, following a robust 16.7% growth in January. Non-oil domestic exports saw a 4.8% decline on a month-on-month basis, adjusted for seasonal variations. The decline was mainly driven by non-electronic sectors such as food preparations, speciality chemicals, and electrical circuit apparatus. The electronics sector witnessed a growth, with major markets such as Hong Kong, the US and Indonesia contributing to its better performance. The decline in exports was in sharp contrast with the expectations. February's non-oil domestic exports were valued at S$14.2 billion ($10.61 billion) on a seasonally adjusted basis. On a seasonally adjusted monthly basis, non-oil domestic exports dropped 4.8% versus analysts' estimate of a drop of 0.4%.

Food prices barrier to 4% inflation target: RBI

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

CORE inflation is decreasing steadily, pulling headline inflation closer to the 4% target, though food price fluctuations are slowing down this progress, the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) said on Tuesday in its monthly bulletin.

"CPI readings for January and February 2024 show winter easing of vegetable prices turned out to be shallow and short-lived. Cereal prices maintained strong momentum, and prices of meat and fish have registered a surge. Food price pressures on the headline have been capped by core disinflation to among its lowest prints in the series," the report said.

Core inflation is falling broadly, with fuel prices in deflation, likely to be more pronounced in March due to LPG price cut. Headline inflation turned positive in February 2024 despite a favourable base effect. As per the report, monetary policy needs to focus on minimising risks, steering inflation towards the target, and supporting growth momentum.

Despite the global uncertainties amid geopolitical and extreme weather risks, the Indian economy is experiencing a conducive macroeconomic configuration that can be its launching pad for a step-up in its growth trajectory. Over the period 2021-24, growth has averaged above 8 per cent; and the underlying fundamentals indicate that this can be sustained and even built upon, said RBI.

In addition, the current account deficit is modest, external buffers are resilient and fiscal consolidation is into its third consecutive year even as corporations are deleveraging and improving their debt servicing capacity. Balance sheets in financial sector are sound and healthy, providing wherewithal for intermediating productive credit needs of a resurgent economy. Financial markets are reflecting these favourable formations. Capital inflows have resumed as investor interest floods back into India.

Reserve Bank imposes penalty on TMB, DCB Bank over benchmarking of loans

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has imposed a monetary penalty on TamilNad Mercantile Bank (TMB) and Mumbai-based DCB Bank for non-compliance with certain directions issued by the regulator.

RBI said ₹1.31 crore penalty was imposed on TMB for non-compliance on 'Interest Rate on Advances' and 'Central Repository of Information on Large Credits (CRILC) - Revision in Reporting', it said on Tuesday.

The central bank said the bank failed to benchmark the interest rate on certain floating rate loans to MSMEs to an external benchmark lending rate and adopted multiple benchmarks within the same loan category. The banking regulator has also flagged the failure of TMB to price certain floating rate loans with reference to actual benchmark rate applicable to those loans and wrongly reported external rating of certain borrowers to CRILC.

The action is based on deficiencies in regulatory compliance after a statutory Inspection conducted by RBI. Based on supervisory findings a show cause notice was issued to the bank. After considering the bank's reply, oral submissions made during the personal hearing and examination of additional submissions made by it, RBI found charges against the bank were sustained warranting imposition of penalty.

Similarly, DCB Bank was imposed a penalty of ₹63 lakh for non-compliance with directions on 'Interest Rate on Advances'. These penalties have been imposed under the provisions of section 47 A of the Banking Regulation Act.

Grasim secures ₹1,250 cr from IFC via NCD

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

TAPPING green funds, Grasim Industries, the flagship company of Aditya Birla Group, has secured an investment of ₹1250 crore from International Finance Corporation (IFC), private sector arm of the World Bank Group. The investment is by way of subscription to non-convertible debentures (NCD) to be issued by the company.

The sustainability-linked NCDs will support the company's investment in paint manufacturing, it said in exchange filings on Tuesday. "IFC's investment will accelerate Grasim's decarbonisation drive via increased adoption of renewable energy and water recycling in paint manufacturing process." This comes after Aditya Birla Group Chairman Kumar Mangalam Birla recently launched decorative paints brand Birla Opus with upfront investment of ₹10,000 crore. Grasim Industries said all six manufacturing plants will be fully sustainable with zero liquid discharge and end-to-end traceability.

H K Agarwal, MD of Grasim Industries, said, "We will work collaboratively with IFC to further enhance our sustainability footprints. We are addressing the transition to a low-carbon economy through our renewable projects and energy-efficient products, and are looking forward to further aligning our activities to the global Sustainable Development Goals."

Wendy Werner, country head at IFC, said this financing will encourage other manufacturing companies to follow by successfully adopting energy efficient and water saving technologies and practices.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

INVESTMENT firm B Capital on Tuesday announced the closing of its Opportunities Fund II at $750 million. This comes amid funding winter and the challenging environment that start-ups have been facing over a few months now.

B Capital, which has backed many Indian start-ups including Meesho, PharmEasy and Byju's, was founded by Facebook co-founder Eduardo Luiz Saverin and others in 2015. This fund is nearly double the size of its predecessor B Capital Opportunities Fund I.

Opportunities Fund II will make primary and secondary investments in later-stage companies across B Capital's core sectors of technology, healthcare and climate tech, with a focus on North America and Asia. "The majority of the Fund will seek to identify follow-on investment opportunities in existing, high-performing B Capital portfolio companies. A portion of the Fund will also invest in new investment opportunities, where the firm's value-added capabilities, including its strategic partnership with the Boston Consulting Group, can have an immediate impact on the companies' next phase of growth," the company said.

With more than $6 billion in assets under management across multiple funds, the firm focuses on seed to late-stage venture growth investments.

"Our strategy is to back great founders early and to support them throughout their entrepreneurial journey. We are grateful for our investors, who enable us to continue to support our companies during a time when capital remains scarce," said Raj Ganguly, Co-founder and Co-CEO at B Capital. WeWork Indian opens new office space in Chennai

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

CO-WORKING space company WeWork India has opened a new facility in Chennai with the leasing of over 130,000 sq. ft. space in Olympia Cyberspace. The new office space is situated at Guindy, one of major office hubs in the city and scheduled to open in early June 2024.

ATC opts for conversion of ₹1,440 cr due into fully paid-up shares of VIL

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

AMERICAN TOWER CORPORATION (ATC), a telecom infrastructure provider, has opted to convert its ₹1,440 crore due to Vodafone Idea (VIL) into fully paid-up equity shares of VIL. With this, ATC will have nearly 2.95% stake in Vodafone Idea, country's third-largest telecom service provider.

Currently, the Government of India holds a 35.8% stake in the company, and the promoters, Vodafone Plc. and Aditya Birla Group, hold 28.5% and 17.5% stakes, respectively.

"ATC to convert optionally convertible debentures (OCDs) issued by VIL amounting to ₹1,440 crore into 144 crore fully paid-up equity shares of VIL. VIL will take necessary actions to allot the equity shares to ATC pursuant to the conversion of the said OCDs, as per the terms of the OCDs," said Vodafone Idea in a statement.

ATC is one of the largest infrastructure service providers for VIL, and both entities have a long-term relationship. Since the telco failed to pay the dues to ATC due to a lack of funds, it issued OCDs worth ₹1,600 crore to ATC against its dues in February 2023. In August, Vodafone Idea extended the redemption period of its OCDs allotted to ATC by one year. The conversion price of ₹10 at the time of OCD issuance was at a premium to the then-prevailing market price of VIL shares.

"In the spirit of this partnership, ATC subscribed to OCDs amounting to Rs. 16 billion, proceeds of which were primarily utilized against payment of dues to ATC. The conversion price of Rs. 10 at the time of OCD issuance was at a premium to the then prevailing market price of VIL shares," said the company.

Vodafone Idea, the loss-making joint venture between the UK's Vodafone Plc and India's Aditya Birla Group, has been struggling to raise funds for more than three years now. Due to a lack of capital, the company has been unable to stem its subscriber losses to its competitors, Reliance Jio and Bharti Airtel, and roll out its 5G services in the country.

Pant to lead Delhi Capitals

Rishabh Pant was appointed as the captain of Delhi Capitals for the upcoming edition of the IPL on Tuesday. The keeper-batter missed cricketing action for 14 months after suffering a horrific car accident in December 2022. "I can't wait to see him walk our team out once again as we look forward to a new season," said DC chairman and co-owner Parth Jindal in a media release.

KINGS' RULE AGAIN?

With only a few days to go for the beginning of the next iteration of the Indian Premier League, here's a preview of three more teams...

CHENNAI SUPER KINGS

Key players: Daryl Mitchell, Ruturaj Gaikwad, Ravindra Jadeja & Deepak Chahar

Auction performance: They had one of the best auctions in recent years as they got all the reserves and replacements, including the likes of Sameer Rizvi. They also have Rachin Ravindra, who can either open or play in the middle depending on the team combination (he will probably open to compensate for the loss of Devon Conway.

Strength: MS Dhoni and Stephen Fleming. They know how to bring out the best in players. They have the arsenal and backups as well for almost every slot. More than anything, they have depth and variety in both and batting departments. It will come down to how soon Dhoni and Fleming figure out the combination they want.

FIRST PHASE SCHEDULE
- Mar 22 vs RCB, Chennai
- Mar 26 vs GT, Chennai
- Mar 31 vs DC, Vizag
- Apr 5 vs SRH, Hyderabad

POINTS TO PONDER

Although it might not make a dent early on, death bowling is always a concern. With Matheesha Pathirana injured, and Mustafizur Rahman cramping during the game against Sri Lanka, it is not clear how their last four overs will look. Shardul Thakur might be doing the heavylifting in that department.

LUCKNOW SUPER GIANTS

Key players: Marcus Stoinis, Nicholas Pooran, Ravi Bishnoi, KL Rahul

Auction performance: With the squad they had, LSG did not have to do much in the auction except for specific targets. A backup overseas pacer in David Willey, an Indian pacer in Shivam Mavi and all-rounder Manimaran Siddharth who is really good at death bowling. However, it will be challenge for any of them to walk into the playing XI.

Strength: Overseas big hitters. Stoinis, Pooran and Kyle Mayers had a big role last year and expect the same this time around as well. In the bowling department, they will rely on Bishnoi and Amit Mishra predominantly. What will be interesting to see is how much of an impact Shamar Joseph will have.

FIRST PHASE SCHEDULE
- Mar 24 vs RR, Jaipur
- Mar 30 vs PBKS, Lucknow
- Apr 2 vs RCB, Bengaluru
- Apr 7 vs GT, Lucknow

POINTS TO PONDER

The uncertainty over KL Rahul's role and how team combination will be affected by it. Rahul, looking for a T20 WC audition, is expected to bat in middle-order. His role at the top is expected to be filled by Devdutt Padikkal or the line-up can just move one spot up. Irrespective of all that, it all will come down to how Rahul bats (his 2023 season strike rate was 113).

SUNRISERS HYDERABAD

Key players: Heinrich Klaasen, Travis Head, Rahul Tripathi, Bhuvaneshwar Kumar

Auction performance: They spent a big chuck of the budget on the ODI WC-winning captain Pat Cummins, and yet, finished the auction with good back ups and signings. Such is their squad that they have at least four overseas players who might start if they were in any other team. That they were able to sign Waninidu Hasaranga at a bargain sums it up.

Strength: Again, strong overseas contingent. So much that at least one of Aiden Markram, Klaasen, Glenn Philips and Marco Jansen will sit out. They also have the bowling reserves in the form of Jaydev Unadkat and Hasaranga. On paper, they are a really strong unit, which has been the case for a while, but it all comes down to the team management and how they turn up.

POINTS TO PONDER

Most of the signings have been on reputation across formats instead of T20 credentials, including Cummins. Whether they will be able to replicate a similar performance is the question. Then there is the inconsistency of Indian players from Mayank Agarwal to Abhishek Sharma to Abdul Samad to Tripathi. Whether Cummins will be able to rally them around and bring the best out of them will be the big question.

FIRST PHASE SCHEDULE
- Mar 23 vs KKR, Kolkata
- Mar 27 vs MI, Hyderabad
- Mar 31 vs GT, Ahmedabad
- Apr 5 vs CSK, Hyderabad

McGrath expecting fast bowlers to call the shots in upcoming IPL

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

FORMER Australian fast bowler Glenn McGrath has tipped the fast bowlers to call the shots in the upcoming season of the Indian Premier League. McGrath, currently in the city to coach budding fast bowlers at the MRF Pace Foundation, believed it was too early to say which teams would reach the playoffs. He hoped that Indian spearhead Jasprit Bumrah, who missed the previous season due to a back injury, would fire for Mumbai Indians.

"I think if you look at his last two strides, he really powers into the crease," McGrath explained. "So his momentum increases in his last two strides. That's where he gets it (pace). I think he's a little bit hyperextended in his elbow, so I think that all adds to it. But it's the last two steps for Bumrah if you ask me," he added on the secret of Bumrah's success.

The World Cup winner also predicted his countrymen Mitchell Starc (Kolkata Knight Riders) and Pat Cummins (Sunrisers Hyderabad) who were bought for an unprecedented sum would deliver for their respective franchises. ''The way they view the money, it should be secondary. Go out there and perform your best. So whether they got paid 100,000 or they got 4.5 million, I think they'll go and approach it the exact same way. They go out there and do their best," opined McGrath, insisting that the price tag will not affect the duo's performance. "The money they've both received is incredible. But I think they're both very experienced players. They know the game well and they're going to go out and play as well as they can, like they've done in the past. So I don't think that'll (money) impact their performance," he added.

Jasprit Bumrah will be one to watch

McGrath, who represented Australia in more than 350 international games, explained how Australians approach the game. "It's just the attitude of Australian sports people. They're very competitive, they go out there, they back themselves, they want to perform on the big stage. You look at, was it the World cup recently? Back in November when Australia won the final, Pat Cummins, the way he played through the tournament, and even recently he's out there, his battings brought Australia home. So not only bowling, batting, so I think they enjoy performing on the big stage and they perform better in pressure games than they do in normal games. I think it's the Australian mentality," pointed out the pacer.

McGrath also has confidence in Virat Kohli and believes that despite a short break from international cricket the former India captain has it in him to deliver for RCB. All eyes will be on Virat Kohli when he takes on CSK at Chennai on Friday. So the big question is will he get straight away into his grove after the break or struggle? "Well, he's (Virat) is a quality player, there's no doubt about that. So it depends on him personally. The break might have done him a world of good. He might come back, be really hungry and go out there and find his form straight away. But in the first few matches, if you get off to a good start, I'm sure he'll be fine. If he struggles a bit, you never know. So he's a quality player. he knows the process,'' opined McGrath.

IPL ROUND-UP

Starc puts on a show

KOLKATA: Returning to IPL after almost a decade, Australian left-arm pacer Mitchell Starc bowled with the new ball, and took some hits from Rinku Singh at the death during Kolkata Knight Riders' second warm-up match at Eden Gardens on Tuesday. The Aussie, who last played in the IPL for Royal Challengers Bangalore in 2014 and 2015, was bought by KKR ahead of IPL 2018 but an injury had ruled him out of that season. "It's always a bit of a circus when it is the best T20 league in the world," he said.

SKY out of opener

MUMBAI: Suryakumar Yadav is certain to miss Mumbai Indians' IPL opener against Gujarat Titans on March 24 as he is yet to get fitness clearance from the National Cricket Academy (NCA). Suryakumar has been stationed at the NCA in Bengaluru for his recovery and rehabilitation following a surgery for sports hernia. Suryakumar, who has been out of action since December, had a fitness test at the NCA on Tuesday but the 33-year-old needs "further assessment". His participation in the subsequent matches against Sunrisers Hyderabad (March 27), Rajasthan Royals (April 1) and Delhi Capitals (April 7) would be determined at a later stage. PTI

IPL to introduce Smart Replay System

MUMBAI: A Smart Replay System will be introduced in the upcoming IPL to bolster speed and accuracy in decision making. The TV umpire will get inputs directly from two operators of the Hawk-Eye system who will sit in the same room as him and help with images captured from eight hi-speed cameras placed across the ground, a report in ESPNCricinfo stated. The new system will enable the TV umpire to analyse more visuals than before including split-screen images, and will also broadcast live his interactions with the Hawk-Eye operators so that the viewers have clear understanding of the thought process.

2 wrestlers from each unit for Athletes' Commission

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

IN its bid to comply with instructions first received from United World Wrestling (UWW) and then the Indian Olympic Association (IOA), the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) has decided to conduct elections for the Athletes' Commission during the Federation Cup scheduled in Chhattisgarh next month. As per the proposal, the tournament is slated for April 24 and 25. A circular in this regard is expected to be released in a day or two. The elections for the Athletes' Commission are expected to be conducted on the first day of the event.

The UWW, while lifting the suspension of the WFI last month, had asked the federation to reconvene the elections of its Athletes' Commission not later than July 1, 2024. The IOA issued the same instructions on Monday while dissolving its ad-hoc committee formed to run the sport after WFI's suspension soon after its election in December last year. "The affiliated state units will be directed to send two names — one male and one female wrestler — for the election. The last date for submitting these names and entries for the Federation Cup will be the same," a source in the know of things told this daily. Apart from asking the state units, the WFI will also inform the UWW, IOA and sports ministry about the move, added the source.

The WFI had formed the commission soon after the election with Olympic medallist Yogeshwar Dutt as its chairman. However, a new body will come into existence after the proposed election. "The existing body will automatically get dissolved after the election. The aim is to give every unit an opportunity to send its representatives. This will also make sure wrestlers from across the country will be a part of the commission," stated the source. The decision, however, could rub a few units including Haryana in a wrong way as a majority of international wrestlers hail from these states but the WFI source believes otherwise. "Most hail from Haryana but if the commission comprises members only from there, then who will raise issues of grapplers from other states. The WFI's decision will give equal opportunities to wrestlers from the other parts of the country."

According to the criteria uploaded by the WFI on its website, a candidate must be 18 years old and he/she should not be sanctioned for doping, disciplinary charge or for any violation against the integrity of sports during their career. Besides, the candidate must have participated in any Asian Championship, World Championship, Asian Games, Commonwealth Games or Olympic Games in the previous 6 years. Two of the seven members should be women.

The representatives sent by the state units will elect the members of the commission through secret ballot papers. The tenure of the commission will be two years and can be renewed. The chairman will then be elected by the members of the commission. The chairman is entitled to the same rights and obligations like the other elected executive members of WFI.

Women's rights: Oz scrap Afghan T20s

AGENCIES @ Sydney

AUSTRALIA on Tuesday scrapped a T20 men's cricket series against Afghanistan later this year, saying the situation for women in the Taliban-ruled country was deteriorating. Cricket Australia said it had received advice "that conditions for women and girls in Afghanistan are getting worse" and so had postponed the three-match series scheduled in August at a neutral venue.

Cricket has surged in popularity inside Afghanistan in recent years, fuelled by triumphs over bigger nations on the international stage. But under the Taliban's brand of Islamic rule, women are effectively barred from the game. Australia's cricket governing body said its stance continued a "strong commitment to supporting participation by women and girls in cricket around the world". It is the third time since 2021 that Australia has refused to play Afghanistan outside of international tournaments. Cricket Australia cancelled a one-off Test in 2021, months after the Taliban swept back into power. "If recent media reports that women's cricket will not be supported in Afghanistan are substantiated, Cricket Australia would have no alternative but to not host Afghanistan," officials said at the time. In 2023, Australia pulled out of a three-match one-day international series in the UAE, with the Afghanistan Cricket Board in Kabul describing the decision as "pathetic".

Afghanistan clinched the T20I series (2-1) against Ireland on Monday | AFP

Afghanistan's best known cricketer, leg-spinner Rashid Khan, threatened to boycott Australia's Big Bash League as a result. Before the return of the Taliban, Afghanistan's cricket board was slowly making progress growing the game among women — even contracting a small number of semi-professional players in 2020.

Man Utd won't sign marquee stars like Bellingham: Ratcliffe

AGENCIES @ London

MANCHESTER United co-owner Jim Ratcliffe has revealed he will not target marquee stars like Jude Bellingham as he bids to revive his club's fortunes.

Ratcliffe has taken control of football operations at United following his recent £1 billion ($1.2 billion) purchase of a 25 percent stake in the Premier League side. With United struggling in Erik ten Hag's second season as manager, British billionaire Ratcliffe had been expected to make big-money signings in the close-season.

United have not won the Premier League since 2013 and currently sit in sixth place, although they are through to the FA Cup semi-finals after beating Liverpool on Sunday.

Appearing as a guest on Geraint Thomas' Cycling Club podcast, the 71-year-old was asked whether he would try to sign England midfielder Bellingham from Real Madrid.

"He is a great footballer. It's not where our focus is, the solution isn't spending a lot of money on a couple of great players," Ratcliffe said. "They have done that, if you look at the last 10 years, they have spent a lot of money on a couple of great players. The first thing we need to do is get the right people in the right boxes who are managing and organising the club.

THE ATLAS OF UNBURNABLE OIL

STUDY warns of oil resources that should not be exploited to meet commitments of Paris climate change agreement In order to limit the increase in global average temperature to 1.5°C, it is essential to drastically reduce carbon dioxide (CO2) emissions in the atmosphere. This would mean not exploiting most of the existing coal, conventional gas and oil energy resources in regions around the world, according to research led by the University of Barcelona and published in the journal Nature Communications. The new article presents the atlas of unburnable oil in the world, a world map designed with environmental and social criteria that warns which oil resources should not be exploited to meet the commitments of the Paris Agreement signed in 2015 to mitigate the effects of climate change.

The article is led by Prof Marti Orta-Martinez, from the UB's Faculty of Biology and the UB Biodiversity Research Institute (IRBio), and co-authored by Gorka Munoa and Guillem Rius-Taberner (UB-IRBio), Lorenzo Pellegrini and Murat Arsel, from the Erasmus University Rotterdam (The Netherlands), and Carlos Mena, from the University of San Francisco de Quito (Ecuador).

The unburnable oil atlas reveals that to limit global warming to 1.5°C, it is essential to avoid the exploitation of oil resources in the most socio-environmentally sensitive areas of the planet, such as natural protected areas, priority areas for biodiversity conservation, areas of high endemic species richness, urban areas and the territories of indigenous peoples in voluntary isolation. It also warns that not extracting oil resources in these most sensitive areas would not be enough to keep global warming below 1.5°C as indicated in the Paris Agreement.

Oil exclusion zones

The Paris Agreement is an international treaty on climate change that calls for limiting global warming to below 2°C above pre-industrial levels and making efforts to limit it to 1.5°C. It was signed by 196 countries on December 12, 2015, at the UN Climate Change Conference COP21 in Paris and has been in force since November 4, 2016.

In this context, the unburnable oil atlas provides a new roadmap to complement the demands of international climate policy — based primarily on demand for fossil fuels — and to enhance socio-environmental safeguards in the exploitation of energy resources.

"Our study reveals which oil resources should be kept underground and not commercially exploited, with special attention to those deposits that overlap with areas of high endemic richness or coincide with outstanding socio-environmental values in different regions of the planet. The results show that the exploitation of the selected resources and reserves is totally incompatible with the achievement of the Paris Agreement commitments," says Prof Orta-Martinez.

There is now a broad consensus among the scientific community to limit global warming to 1.5°C if we want to avoid reaching the tipping points of the Earth's climate system, such as melting permafrost, loss of Arctic sea ice and the Antarctic and Greenland ice sheets, forest fires in boreal forests, and so on. "If these thresholds are exceeded, this could lead to an abrupt release of carbon into the atmosphere (climate feedback)," Prof Orta-Martinez states, and adds that this would "amplify the effects of climate change and trigger a cascade of effects that commit the world to large-scale, irreversible changes".

Burning all known fossil fuels

To limit average global warming to 1.5°C, the total amount of CO2 emissions that must not be exceeded is known as the remaining carbon budget. In January 2023, the remaining carbon budget for the 50% chance of keeping warming to 1.5°C was about 250 gigatonnes of CO2 (GtCO2). "This budget is steadily decreasing at current rates of human-induced emissions — about 42 GtCO2 per year — and will be completely used up by 2028," says Pellegrini.

The combustion of the world's known fossil fuel resources would result in the emission of about 10,000 GtCO2, forty times more than the carbon budget of 1.5°C. "In addition, the combustion of developed fossil fuel reserves — i.e. those reserves of oil and gas fields and coal mines currently in production or under construction — will emit 936 GtCO2, four times more than the remaining carbon budget for a global warming of 1.5°C," notes Munoa.

"The goal of no more than 1.5°C global warming requires a complete halt to exploration for new fossil fuel deposits, a halt to the licensing of new fossil fuel extraction, and the premature closure of a very significant share (75%) of oil, gas and coal extraction projects currently in production or already developed," the authors note.

'CAN'T BE A 100 AT ALL TIMES'

Tennis ace Sania Mirza, who has had a rocky start to 2024 with her divorce from cricketer Shoaib Malik creating a buzz on social media, opens up about her mental health and the perils of constant scrutiny on social media

RESHMI CHAKRAVORTY

For tennis ace Sania Mirza, being successful in her personal life means having loved ones around her. Ironically, the year started off on a rough note following her separation from Pakistani cricketer Shoaib Malik in January. After the news of Malik's third marriage went viral, her team released a statement, confirming that the two had been separated for a few months, calling for fans not to indulge in any speculation. Mirza, who formally retired last year from tennis, unveils facets of her life often overshadowed by her public persona, discussing her home life, dietary habits, mental wellness practices, handling fame, along with her personal definition of success and fulfilment.

Everyone knows the tennis ace Sania Mirza. How is she at home with her close ones?

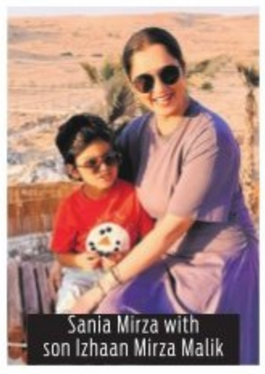
I'm actually a very laid-back person. I'm a homebody and hate going out. The people who are close to me know that very well.

How do you maintain a healthy work-life balance amidst the demands of being an athlete and a mother?

Work-life balance is very important, something we all strive towards and that no one has ever perfected. But I think that it's just about having priorities right and being kind to yourself. You can't be a 100 at all times. I probably can't be everywhere all the time so as long as I know I'm giving my 100 per cent wherever I am, it works out.

What dietary habits or nutritional principles do you prioritise for your overall well-being?

I try to be gluten-free, which I have been for many years. I try to avoid sugar as much as I can, although I won't say that I'm sugar-free.



Sania Mirza with son Izhaan Mirza Malik

What is a mindfulness practice you engage?

Exercising at least five times a week not just helps with physical being but also with mental well-being. I have a psychologist who I speak with who helps me with certain areas of my life.

As a global icon, how do you manage your public image while retaining privacy in this age of constant scrutiny?

Social media is part of our lives, and when you become a public figure, it's just something you need to deal with. It's not always a bed of roses. But everything has its pros and cons. You only have to try and protect yourself along with the people around you.

What are some of your favourite hobbies outside of tennis that you enjoy to relax?

I'm a big beach person and love sitting around in Goa and Maldives. I don't have many hobbies except for watching sports.

How do you navigate the challenges of travelling frequently?

Travelling is challenging because of constantly having to stay away from friends and family. Just the fact of adjusting to different time zones is a task. Travel is something that all of us love doing but when you're doing it 25-30 weeks a year, it becomes strenuous.

How do you define success and fulfilment in life? What principles do you follow to achieve them?

Success and fulfilment comes from being content. Everybody has different limits to what success means to them. Professionally, I've been fortunate enough to have the success that I've had for which I am very grateful.

QUEEN OF GOOD TIMES

Performing for the first time in the city after being honoured with the Padma Bhushan, iconic pop singer Usha Uthup on going viral with her cover of Miley Cyrus' Grammy-winning song Flowers, and reinventing herself to keep up her image of the 'Queen of Indian Pop'

> I feel that digital music has lost some warmth. It's so perfect that it's like touching a marble porcelain statue. I really feel the analog could capture the soul. My point is how long will it last? – Usha Uthup, playback singer

POOJA DAS

ONE could say that the days when you could recognise a singer just after listening to a few lines of a song have long gone. With digital sound design, auto-tuning, and the proliferation of independent labels, making a unique identity with just one's voice has become a challenge. Amidst this, one singer who still stands her ground with her voice and charisma is Usha Uthup, often referred to as the 'Queen of Indian Pop'. Her upcoming performance in the city this weekend, will be the first since she was honoured with the prestigious Padma Bhushan award. Sharing her excitement at receiving the award, she says, "It's been a marvellous journey so far. I was in the car and we were travelling from Pune to Bombay to catch our flight. I got this call from Delhi and they said 'Congratulations, you have been awarded the Padma Bhushan'. Immediately I had tears in my eyes. And then for a brief second, I thought it was a joke but they assured me that it was for real. It was one of the most exciting moments for me and my family – to be appreciated and recognised by my country and government."

Beginning her musical career in 1969 in the modest settings of Nine Gems, a nightclub in Chennai, Uthup says that she prefers to sing 'people music' without sticking to a particular genre. "At the time when I started singing, there were no other people who were singing in nightclubs or singing the kind of genre that I was singing. Now, when people ask me what my genre is, I say that, well, I sing 'people music'. I sing what people love and what people want and that's what's kept me going. The thing that I believe in the most is that the song is always bigger and greater than the singer," she adds.

Once deemed unfit for the traditional mould of the Indian film industry, Uthup's journey was one filled with challenges. Her voice, initially thought unsuitable for Indian cinema, eventually became her trademark. "I didn't start off as a playback singer. In fact, for me, everything has been the opposite. I started off performing live everywhere. People heard me, then spoke about me and that's how people came to my shows."

Her recent rendition of Flowers by Miley Cyrus which went viral across social media shows her understanding of changing musical tastes across generations. "The thing that has kept me going is that I appeal to all generations, even younger generations like my grandchildren. I remain relevant by moving along with time, reinventing myself and rethinking and reconstructing a particular song which I've been singing for donkey's years like Rambha Ho," says Uthup, adding, "A month ago my daughter told me that I should sing Flowers. For me it's a song that describes Nari Shakti, why do you have to depend on anyone else. I am always grateful to my family for giving me these ideas."

Uthup acknowledges the brilliance of the digital world in enhancing music but also notes the loss of warmth and soul that characterised the analog era. "The digital world is so brilliant...perfection is to the nth level. They can auto-tune you, they can make your voice sound differently, which is fabulous. In the olden days, you couldn't do that. It was all analog. But I feel that digital music has lost some warmth. It's so perfect that it's like touching a marble porcelain statue. I really feel the analog could capture the soul. My point is how long will it last? Somebody will see through the artificiality," remarks the 76-year-old singer.

(The concert Usha Uthup and AIR Live will be held on March 23, 6pm at Garuda Outdoor Courtyard, Magrath Road. Tickets priced ₹999 onwards on bookmyshow.com)

Attakkalari India Biennial to present two performances on March 20

Attakkalari India Biennial 2024, the performance arts festival hosted by Attakkalari Centre for Movement Arts, will present two special performances – 'Ephemeral Artifacts' by Toronto-based dance company NANDA, and 'Equipoise' by Prasanna Saikia and Nandita Mondal - on March 20 at Bangalore International Centre, Domlur. Ephemeral Artifacts, is an hour-long performance that integrates music, video, and storytelling and celebrates the body as a space of transmission and dance as a defiant act of creating knowledge. Conceptualised and choreographed by Prasanna Saikia and Nandita Mondal, Equipoise is an artiste's introspection, an exploration that delves into an artist's existential dilemma.

Debunking Oral Cancer Myths

DR NARAYANA SUBRAMANIAM

Despite its prevalence, awareness about oral cancer is low, leading to delayed diagnosis and poor outcomes. Myths include:

Age Misconception: Oral cancer has no age predilection. Especially in India, for reasons not fully understood, oral cancer often affects people in their 30s and 40s. Rare types of oral cancers that can arise from the jawbone or muscle in the mouth (sarcomas) can affect even children.

Not Just Tobacco and Alcohol: While tobacco and alcohol contribute, 10-15% of oral cancer patients have no history of using them.

Early Detection and High Cure Rates: Early-stage oral cancers have excellent cure rates, superior to many other cancers. Certain advanced cancers as well have good cure rates. Early detection is key. Following the oncologist's advice and completing the treatment on time confers the highest chance of cure.

Functional and Cosmetic Restoration: Modern surgical techniques and technological advancements enable us to sidestep facial and neck incisions, providing functional and cosmetic reconstruction. Patients can eat, speak, and maintain a normal appearance with high social functioning. Virtual surgical planning and 3D printing facilitate "jaw-in-a-day" surgery, offering some patients a single-stage procedure to remove cancer, undergo reconstruction, and receive dental implants with a denture.

ANDY DESA

The expert is a board game designer, with his games mostly narrating a unique tale of India

How to design board games?

With a growing number of local designers creating innovative and culturally relevant games, the board game industry in India has certainly come of age. If you've got an idea for a game or a story that you think could be adapted to another medium, read on.

Start small: It's advisable to start designing small yet meaningful games. This will give you experience and a better understanding of the game design and development cycle. The key is to start somewhere and start quickly.

Focus on the story: When you start conceptualising your game, you need to consider the story that you would like to tell. An easy way is to start by considering who the players are in the game. For example, players could be warriors or farmers.

ASK AN XPERT

Incorporate game components: Demonstrate the actions players take in the game by way of components (cards, dice, player boards, or tokens). For example, seeds could be tokens that are bought using money (cards) and grown in a field (player board).

Understand mechanisms: All board games are made up of rules or actions, more commonly known as mechanisms. You should play games to understand them better. Alternatively, you can review rulebooks or watch playthrough videos.

Playtest, playtest, playtest: Board game design is an iterative process. It is important to test your games. Start testing as early and as widely as possible. Listen to the feedback. You, as a designer, can decide which feedback to work on and implement.

SAVASANA
(CORPSE POSE)

Savasana is a key practice in almost every yoga tradition and is most commonly used at the end of a sequence as a means of relaxation. In Sanskrit, 'sava' means corpse and 'asana' means posture. It is sometimes practised between postures in order to calm the nervous system. Savasana is found in the written record of the classic 15th-century yoga text, Hatha Yoga Pradipika. Though the aim of the pose is to give rest to the body and mind, it is also considered an active pose in which the practitioner should remain fully conscious. The breath should be natural, and it is important that the body is in a neutral position in which prana (life force energy) can flow freely.

STEPS

- Lie on your back and extend your arms and legs outward, with the arms kept at 45 degrees from the side of your body.
- Make sure that you are comfortable.
- Close your eyes and take slow, deep breaths through the nose.
- Relax, feel the whole body rising and falling with each breath.
- Scan the body from the toes to the fingers to the crown of the head, looking for tension, tightness, or contracted muscles.
- Consciously release and relax any areas that you find contracted.
- Release control over the breath, the mind, and the body, letting them relax.
- Stay in this pose for 5 to 15 minutes.
- To release, slowly deepen the breath, wiggle the fingers and toes, raise the arms over your head, and stretch the entire body. Exhale, bend the knees, twist the chest, and roll over to one side as in a foetal position. Now slowly inhale and sit up.

BENEFITS

- Effective for mental stress, depression, high blood pressure, heart disease, and insomnia.
- Helps in reducing the weakness of the nervous system, tiredness, and negative thinking.
- Helps increase concentration power.
- Practising this in between other asanas relieves the tiredness of the body.
- Children can practise this pose to improve their consciousness.
- It can help steady the heart rate of patients with insomnia.
- Helps reduce the extent of hypertension in both adults and children.
- Helps reduce fatigue, stress, and calms the nervous system.
- Relaxes your mind and body.
- Practising this asana has often shown an improvement in the health of patients with diabetes.

LIMITATIONS

- Students who are advised not to lie on their backs should avoid this pose.
- Those suffering from severe acidity may hurt themselves by lying on their back.
- Savasana may not be suitable for women in the later stages of pregnancy, and in this case, lying on the left side with a pillow kept between the knees is a recommended alternative.

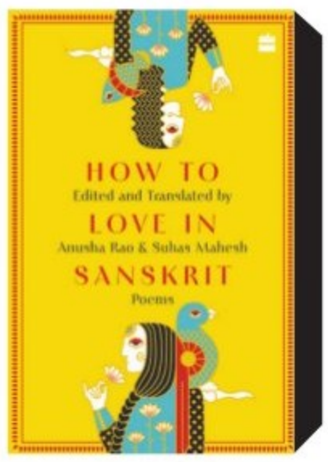
From flirting to yearning and heartbreak, a new translated collection of Sanskrit love poetry by poets as ancient as Kalidasa and Banabhatta to contemporary ones, sheds light on how the 'language of the gods' was always more intent on articulating matters of the heart

LOVE IN A DEAD LANGUAGE

We spent every evening, for two years, poring over a hundred and fifty texts. Of the 10,000 poems we read, only 220 made the cut

Anusha Rao, translator and editor



ALEXANDER SEBASTIAN

SANSKRIT, it would seem, is too serious a language to write love poems in. The 'language of the gods', with too much tradition and religion attached to it, would surely not lend itself to sweet nothings. A new book of poetry proves us wrong. How to love in Sanskrit (HarperCollins), a collection of Sanskrit love poetry, translated and edited by Anusha Rao and Suhas Mahesh, brings together verses and short prose pieces by celebrated writers such as Kalidasa and Banabhatta, Buddhist and Jain monks, scholars, emperors, and even modern-day poets, shedding light on the tender and exhilarating side of the 'fusty-musty language of hymns, priests and godmen'.

Rao a scholar of Sanskrit and Indian religion currently pursuing a PhD at the University of Toronto and Mahesh is a scholar of Sanskrit and Prakrit who is also a materials physicist. For the editor-translator couple living in Toronto, Canada, who speak a mélange of Kannada, English, Sanskrit and Prakrit at home and frequently quote lines from their favourite verses in everyday conversations, the book is an act of making Sanskrit poetry accessible and, more importantly, enjoyable to everyone.

Love is a bridge

"We've seen people reading translations of Homer in airports, Rumi on park benches and Gilgamesh in buses. But why never Kalidasa or Banabhatta? Sanskrit works are extraordinary literature of course; we've soaked in them for years and years. Friends would ask us for suggestions on what to read, but we had no confident recommendations. Everything out there is either Victorian, smugly moralistic, academic or plain old boring. We felt compelled to remedy the situation, and decided to write something that anyone could pick up and enjoy. And what better theme to bridge the ancient and the contemporary than love?," says Mahesh.

The collection, which includes sections like 'How to Flirt', 'How to Make Love' and 'How to Break Up', features love poetry that speaks to today's romantic sensibilities, which, doesn't seem to have changed much from when poet and philosopher Shriharsha was describing the dimples of a lover in 1100 CE or when playwright Ishvaradatta was writing about the 'heat of secret lovemaking' in 400 CE.

Found in translation

For the couple, the making of the book itself was a labour of love. "We spent every evening, for two years, poring over a hundred and fifty texts," says Rao. "Of the 10,000 poems we read, only 220 made the cut," she adds, admitting that they followed 'a very stringent acceptance criterion'.

Suhas Mahesh

Translating the works into English posed its own set of challenges, including the linguistic peculiarities of Sanskrit. "We only considered verses where the key idea translates well into English," says Rao, adding, "The purpose of poetry is to enjoy the rasa of it. Anything that hinders this is inappropriate. We have translated these poems faithfully as far as the idea is concerned, and only altered the accoutrements to encourage readers to explore Sanskrit further."

Sweet syllables

Apart from the Sanskrit love poetry redux, the collection also opens a window into lesser appreciated languages, which had produced literature of equal merit but have fallen into oblivion. The book contains around 50 poems from Maharashtri Prakrit, a couple from Apabhramsha and one from Pali. "Maharashtri Prakrit was renowned for its literature, and was read as a classical language for 2,000 years. With its sweet and soft syllables, it is said to be the perfect language for love, a reputation it once enjoyed. As a saying goes: 'They don't know Prakrit poetry, and they speak of love – the shame!' Prakrit does not have many takers today, but it is worth learning just to read the Gaha Sattasai, a collection of 700 poems on love from 100 CE," he says.

The couple, who state that 'love poetry is far more common in Sanskrit than religious poetry', believe it is only fair that we should get to know 'what is it like to love in Sanskrit'. The book is an ode to our old languages, and their manuscripts, which are rotting away, even as people like Rao and Mahesh hope they can 'get to them before the bugs do'.

A short poem from Kumarapala's Awakening, written in 1200 CE, by the Jain monk Somaprabha Suri, can perhaps give you a glimpse of how it is to love in Sanskrit- "Seeing the lovely red/ of your lips, darling/ the cherries hang themselves/ from a tree in despair."

WHAT THE WPL VICTORY MEANS FOR BENGALUREANS

HRIDAY RANJAN
Urban Bourbon
(Writer, comedian)

SO, it has finally happened – ladies, gentlemen, and friends beyond the binary! RCB have finally won a trophy, with Smriti Mandhana, Ellysse Perry & Co. finally lifting a cup after a thrilling, low-scoring match in the final. This brought a lot of happiness to people around the world, but it was heartwarming to watch people on the streets celebrate and shout slogans of victory. Nobody objected to their behaviour even though they were technically adding to the traffic in that locality! Personally, I have not been the greatest supporter of RCB over the years, but having supported the Indian team all through the '90s, I can empathise with fans of the league for their undying support over nearly two decades.

This is the happiest I have seen Bengalureans in a long time. The last few weeks weren't particularly pleasant for inhabitants of the city. There were reports of water crisis in the city, sparking rumours and rejuvenated demands for work-from-hometown among the IT employees of the city. There were also reports of lakes drying up around the city, along with a blast at a famous eatery. Amidst these dreary news reports, the sight of the RCB ladies winning the trophy certainly put a smile on the faces of critics like me. If anything, the RCB winning the WPL puts more pressure on the men to repeat the feat. Over the years, RCB has been a delight for bookies, since they were the most predictable side in the league. Of course, there were other teams too. There is Punjab, who consistently rank at the bottom. There is Delhi, who have never been able to see the trophy amidst the smoke and fog. But RCB was particularly singled out, since they had the biggest stars in their stable.

As a writer, I have a natural proclivity to support the underdogs, and that is why RCB never featured in my list of favourite teams. As a standup comedian, I have earned money and punchlines at RCB's expense. As a cricket lover, I found it hard to reason with them – imagine having the three greatest T20 players of all time in your team, and yet ending up at the bottom of the table. In fact, things had reached such a stage that Virat Kohli and 'Mr. Nags' would joke about RCB not winning the cup. RCB became a practice pitch for upcoming astrologers, palmists and philosophers. The team had become a reference point in memes and reels. But no more!

As the ladies of RCB have shown the way, my loyalties this time are divided between Hyderabad and Bengaluru. The Hyderabad team is at the opposite end of the spectrum to RCB. They have no superstars, no hype, and nobody is walking around wearing their T-shirts. I was conflicted about my divided loyalties, when news flowed in that this year's league might be split in two parts. God, and the BCCI, work in mysterious ways! And therein lies my answer. I will be spending the next two months supporting two teams. Of course, one could argue that the IPL doesn't mean much in the larger scheme of things. I was of the same opinion 17 years ago. And yet here I am, writing columns about the tournament after nearly two decades. I have no qualms in two-timing with my loyalties this year. In fact, that seems like the way to go forward – to hedge one's heartbreaks by dividing one's loyalties. And I shall be among the millions who while stuck in traffic, will look at their phones and exclaim – Ee Sala Cup (maybe) Nammade!!

PREMALOKA 2

IN THE MAKING: RAVICHANDRAN SHARES EXCITING UPDATES

The film, directed by the Crazy Star will also feature him, alongside his two sons, Manoranjan and Vikram

A SHARADHAA

In between juggling a reality show and various film projects, filmmaker V Ravichandran is all set to wield the megaphone once again for Premaloka 2. With updates buzzing around the sequel, the filmmaker, recently dropped some exciting news during discussions about his upcoming project, Tapassi.

The maverick director revealed plans to kickstart shooting for the Premaloka sequel on his birthday on May 30.

Ravichandran, apart from directing, will also headline the project along with his sons, Manoranjan and Vikram. He will also compose music for the film.

As a recall to the yesteryear trend, the film is said to feature a whopping 25 songs, with recordings nearing completion.

As fans eagerly anticipate this cinematic delight, it's worth reminiscing about the magic of the original Premaloka.

Directed by V Ravichandran, this cinematic extravaganza marked his directorial debut. Produced by N Veeraswamy and co-produced by Ravichandran himself under Sri Eswari Productions, the film starred the maestro himself alongside Bollywood sensation Juhi Chawla. Released in Kannada and Tamil, its timeless songs composed by musician Hamsalekha continue to captivate audiences to this day.

Ravichandran to play a pivotal role in Tapassi

V. RAVICHANDRAN will play a pivotal role in Tapassi, a female-centric film. According to the Crazy Star, who recently joined the sets, he picked the role at the insistence of director Spencer Matthew, who has also penned the script.

The latter has previously directed Sweet Poison, starring Girish Karnad, the upcoming film will be his sophomore effort. Tapassi, based on a true story, stars Ammayra Gowsami. She had previously worked predominantly in Malayalam and Marathi films and will be making a mark in Kannada with Tapassi.

"The team has almost completed shooting, and they have been waiting to wrap the film with my portions. Matthew, whom I've known since the time I directed Ravi Bopanna, is a close friend. He didn't mind waiting for me to be a part of the project," says Ravichandran, who plays a professor. "This is a female-centric film, and my role conveys a social message. My character adds weightage, and they have cast me believing I would do justice to the film," he says.

Director Matthew mentioned, "Ravichandran came to my mind when I thought of making Tapassi, and I'm grateful he accepted to play the role."

Tapassi also features Vinay Prasad, Prajwal, Sachin, Anusha, and others in supporting roles. The film has Veeresh handling the camera, with Arun P Thomas as editor, and Arav Rishik as the film's composer. Matthew, apart from directing, is also producing the film under the Bangalore Movies banner, with Gangaadhar joining him as the executive producer. The shooting of *Tapassi i*s currently underway in Bengaluru.

From Mungaru Male to recent hits, I am a big fan of Kannada cinema: THRIGUN

The actor , who is awaiting the release of his upcoming bilingual film Lineman, shares his excitement about making a mark in Kannada

CE FEATURES

RAGHU Raghu Shastry's latest film, Lineman, is all set to release in Telugu and Kannada this week. Thrigun, who was recently seen in the Tamil film Devil, eagerly anticipates his debut in the Kannada industry with this film. Produced by Purple Rock Entertainers, Lineman stars Kajal Kunder, Nishvika, B Jayashree, Harini Srikanth, and Sujay Shastry, among others. The music for the film has been composed by Kadri Manikanth, along with Shanthi Sagar HG.

The actor, who is in Bengaluru to discuss details about Lineman, begins by reflecting on the changing landscape of Indian cinema. He remarks, "Today, OTT platforms have broken down barriers, allowing small films to reach audiences across languages. It is a testament to the power of storytelling."

Thrigun's connection to Kannada culture is deep-rooted. Recalling his early days as a theatre artist, he notes that he fondly remembers his debut Kannada play for the Karnataka Nataka Sangha. "My connection to Kannada cinema goes back to my time in college," he reminisces. "I've closely followed the industry, from timeless classics like Mungaru Male, which I watched on its 100th day in Chennai, to modern gems like Lucia, directed by Pawan Kumar. I even contemplated a remake and eventually remade Lifeu Ishtene in Telugu. I found great pleasure in watching U-turn. Over the past few years, Kannada cinema has soared with remarkable films like KGF, Kantara, Garuda Gamana Vrishabha Vahana, 777 Charlie, and the recent Sapta Sagardaache Ello. It felt inevitable for me to become a part of the Kannada industry, and I am glad to be starting with a good film," he says.

Discussing his partnership with director Raghu Shastry, Thrigun shares how Lineman kickstarted. Initially envisioned as a Kannada film, Lineman also evolved as a Telugu project. "We recognised the opportunity for a story that could transcend languages," he shares and adds that the film about linemen in the State Government's Electricity Board struck a chord with him, and believes it will resonate with audiences of any language.

Thrigun's dedication to working on diverse projects goes beyond Lineman. He hints at an upcoming film with acclaimed directors like Mysskin — with whom he had previously collaborated in Devil (music director) — in a courtroom drama, and another interesting Telugu project titled Mr Work from Home. "In the post-COVID era, audiences are craving fresh narratives, and I'm focused on delivering compelling stories that break the mould," he signs off.

Not Shivarajkumar, but Shahid Kapoor to headline Sachin Ravi's epic, Ashwatthama

The director of Avane Srimannarayana is all set to make his Bollywood debut, drawing inspiration from the Mahabharata, with the film set to be released in five languages

Shahid Kapoor

CE FEATURES

WE had earlier reported that Sachin Ravi, the director of Avane Srimannarayana, would be making his Bollywood debut with Shahid Kapoor in the lead. He had temporarily moved to Mumbai, preparing for the big-budget project backed by Vashu Bhagnani and Jackky Bhagnani's Pooja Entertainer banner. The project has been officially announced, with the makers and actor Shahid Kapoor sharing the news on social media platforms.

While the director hinted at an action-packed mythology-based project inspired by the epic Mahabharata, it's now confirmed that Shahid Kapoor will play the immortal Ashwatthama. It is set to be a multilingual film which will be made in five languages. "Myth and reality will blur as past and present collide when an ancient legend meets this modern marvel! This is the story of Ashwatthama - The Saga Continues, the immortal warrior, a Magnum Opus you cannot miss," read the announcement.

Sachin Ravi and Shivarajkumar

Given Sachin Ravi's expertise in VFX, technology is expected to play a significant role in the film too. Interestingly, Sachin had pitched the project to Shivarajkumar a few years ago and had announced that he would direct him in a film based on the character of Ashwatthama. He had mentioned that the story was written by him during the filming of Avane Srimannarayana and would deal with relationships throughout Ashwatthama's life and how he would take on evil. However, there were no further announcements after that.

It is also to be noted that director Anup Bhandari had also recently announced his film with the same title. Exploring one of the popular characters from the Mahabharata, he expressed his desire to have Sudeep headline the mega-project, but there have been no updates on this project.

Filmmaker Aditya Dhar too had plans to collaborate with Vicky Kaushal for a similar project, which was announced in 2020 but later shelved. It has now been confirmed that Shahid Kapoor will portray the character Ashwatthama.

Film: Ben and Suzanne's Reunion in 4 Parts

CINEMA WITHOUT BORDERS

In this weekly column, the writer introduces you to powerful cinema from across the world

NAMRATA JOSHI

IT had to happen someday; for the popular Sri Lankan herbal drink, Samahan, to make its way into a movie, that too a US-Sri Lankan indie romcom. Extremely popular in India, for immunity building and keeping cough and cold at bay, the very mention of Samahan in writer-director Shaun Seneviratne's debut feature Ben and Suzanne's Reunion in 4 Parts makes one feel at home. The film itself very briefly touches upon the idea of belonging or never fully becoming an insider in an alien culture.

Sathya Sridharan plays Ben Santhanaraj, an Indian American high school teacher, who journeys to Sri Lanka from the US to spend some quality time with his partner Suzanne Hopper (Anastasia Olowin) from whom he has been separated for a long time. The idea is to go on a road trip across the country and try to rekindle the dying spark in their long-distance relationship. However, the beginning itself proves inauspicious. Suzanne, who is working in a microcredit NGO called Economic Integrity, is out of town on a job and can't welcome Ben at the airport. It's her elderly boss Priyanti who picks him up and brings him home. Even the couple's road trip together later turns into a work-from-home routine for Suzanne, bringing their relationship to the verge of a breakdown. Ben feels Suzanne is prioritising work over their relationship while she feels Ben is being selfish and is making her feel unnecessarily guilty.

The film harks back to Richard Linklater's The Before Trilogy in how it is structured around conversations between its lead players—spontaneous and candid. In fact, the indie feel of Linklater gets even indie-er here. It is evident in the marked-down frames, the jagged, home video look and the many rough edges. The couple has none of the starry allure of Ethan Hawke and Julie Delpy. However, Sathya and Anastasia are likeable for their eminently regular ways. Their exchanges are also no less ordinary, and their romance is more raw than dreamy or whimsical. The dynamics of their relationship are as real and natural as can be. It is ironic then that their cat, back in the US, should be called Ernest Lubitsch; the renowned filmmaker known for elegant comedies like To Be Or Not To Be and The Shop Around The Corner.

For a change, Sri Lanka is not about the incredibly green landscapes but neat homes, bustling markets, bus stands, kitschy vans and cars. It's a country on the verge of a larger economic collapse but where a few are making a quick buck with the illegal sale of morning-after pills, hash, acid, and cocaine.

The drama, tension and propulsion come from the chatter—the constant shift from healthy discussions to acrimonious argumentations to sweet nothings. From books to dietary choices and life decisions—everything is up for heated debates. Ben and Suzanne even get down to arguing on whether optimism is pernicious or not, if life is all about a quest for happiness and enjoyment or about work, misery and suffering.

It all gets framed in the ambit of the recent economic downturn. Suzanne who once empowered female-owned businesses finds herself turned into a debt collector and loan recovery agent. No wonder she can't see life as anything more than bleak. As fissures start appearing in the relationship, it is for a film—Starship Troopers—to bring them close again even if their ways of seeing it might be entirely different. It helps them negotiate a new turn in the relationship and makes them realise that at the very end lies a fresh start.

For a film pivoted on dialogue, my takeaway has been a phrase. Pent-up anger we all know. I am going to use an expression whose copyright rests in the film with Ben and Ben alone: pent-up tenderness.
